FOREWORD

The trans-Pacific flight of the Southern Cross from California, ending in Sydney, Australia, in June, 1928, was a most forceful demonstration to me that aviation could be safe in a proper ship, properly equipped, but, above all, piloted and navigated by properly trained personnel.

Drawing upon my own experiences and observations during the last two years, both as a pilot and as one closely in touch with the Hancock Foundation College of Aeronautics, I am sending you a brief message on the subject; but I first want to say that in preparation for your future activities whatever they may be and whether now chosen or not, you should profit to the fullest by your opportunities for education and training, since their lack is responsible for the major number of the calamities or disappointments which beset mankind, although some persons who are lucky do in a few instances "get by" on a "break."

To those of you who are particularly interested in aviation, I would say that "lucky breaks" have no place in the air. Their happening must never be relied on when the lives of humans are in the balance. Manufacturers and designers have now developed ships and equipment to such a state of perfection that the ship may rarely be blamed for a crash. This leaves the human element to perfect and puts the responsibility squarely up to the mechanics

THEME

Zeal, daring, courage — all these characterize the spirit of modern youth; and therefore, aviation, which typifies this spirit better than anything else, has been selected as the theme of the 1931 Colonial.

Most of today's prominent aviators are young people. Aviation is essentially a science and a sport of youth. It is because of this, and also because aviation is rapidly becoming such a vital part of the age in which we live, that we, the staff, made it the motivating idea around which this annual was built.

Aviation compels our attention because it is a reality of today, as well as a potentiality of tomorrow. Man overcame the obstacles of mother earth, he conquered the realm of Neptune, and then he could not rest until he had soared through the heavens. Aviation is not wholly a mechanical science nor a mode of transportation; it is a reflection of the adventurous spirit of the machine age in which we live.

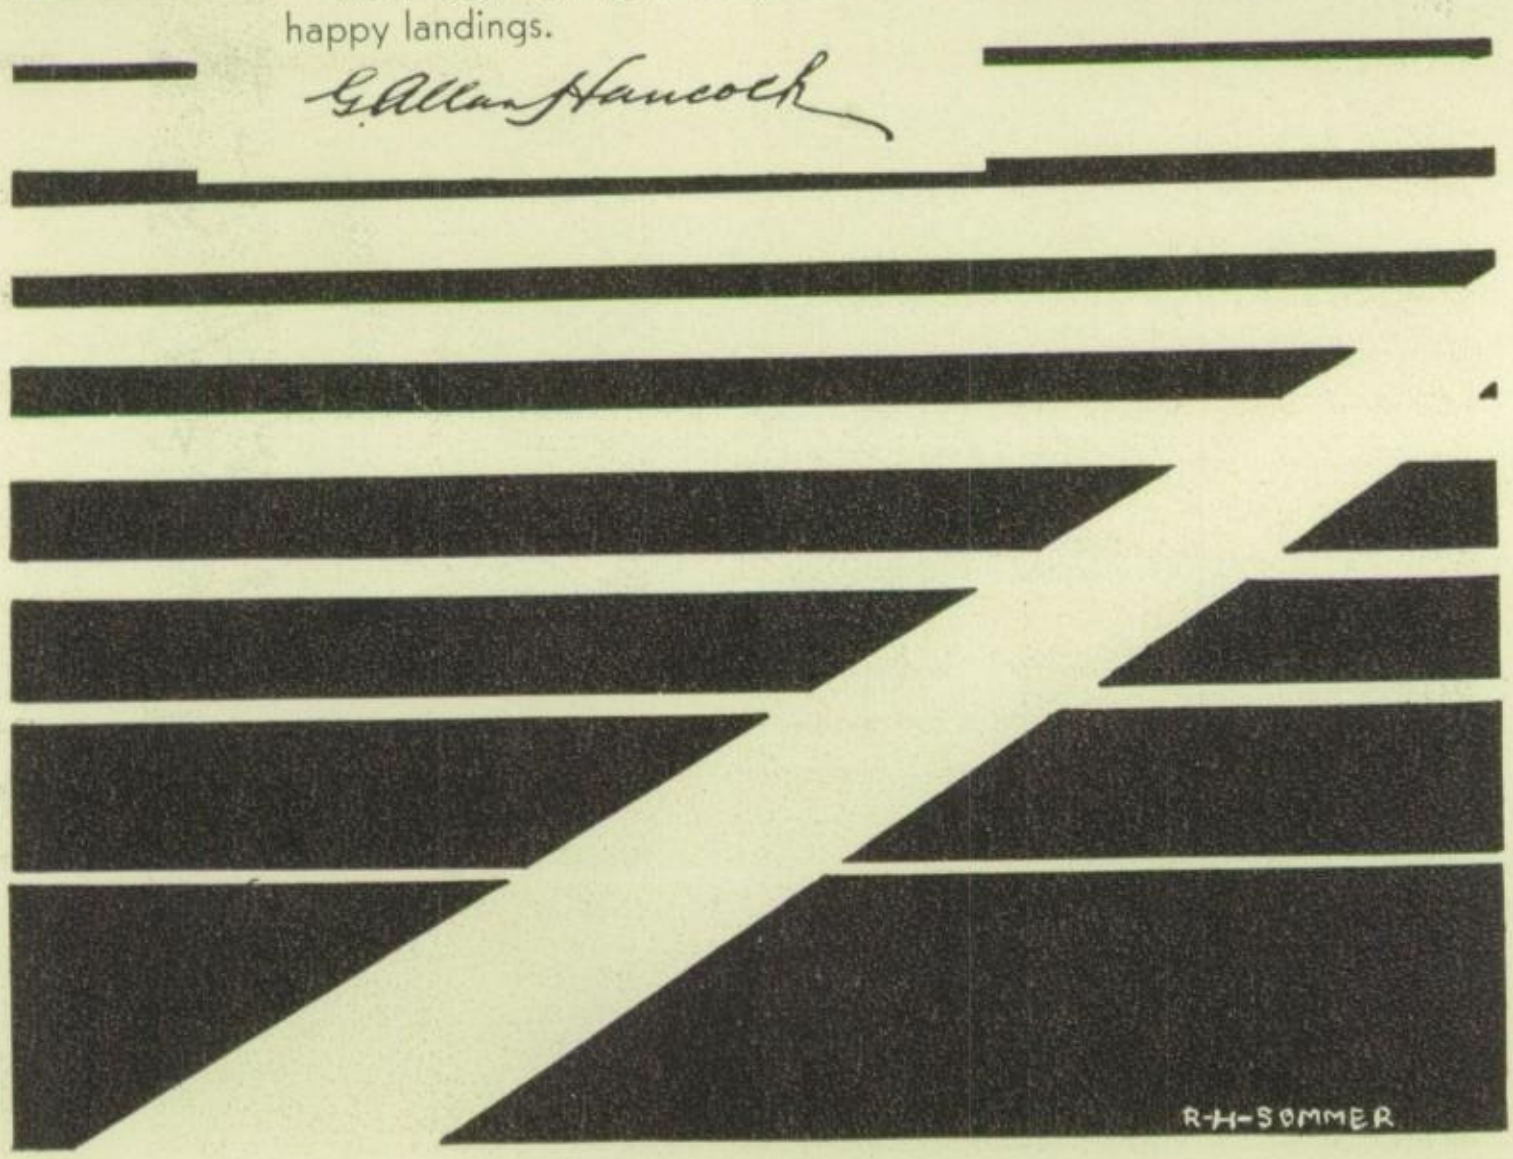
We, the staff, express the hope that our handling of this theme will inspire in you the onward and upward spirit of aviation.

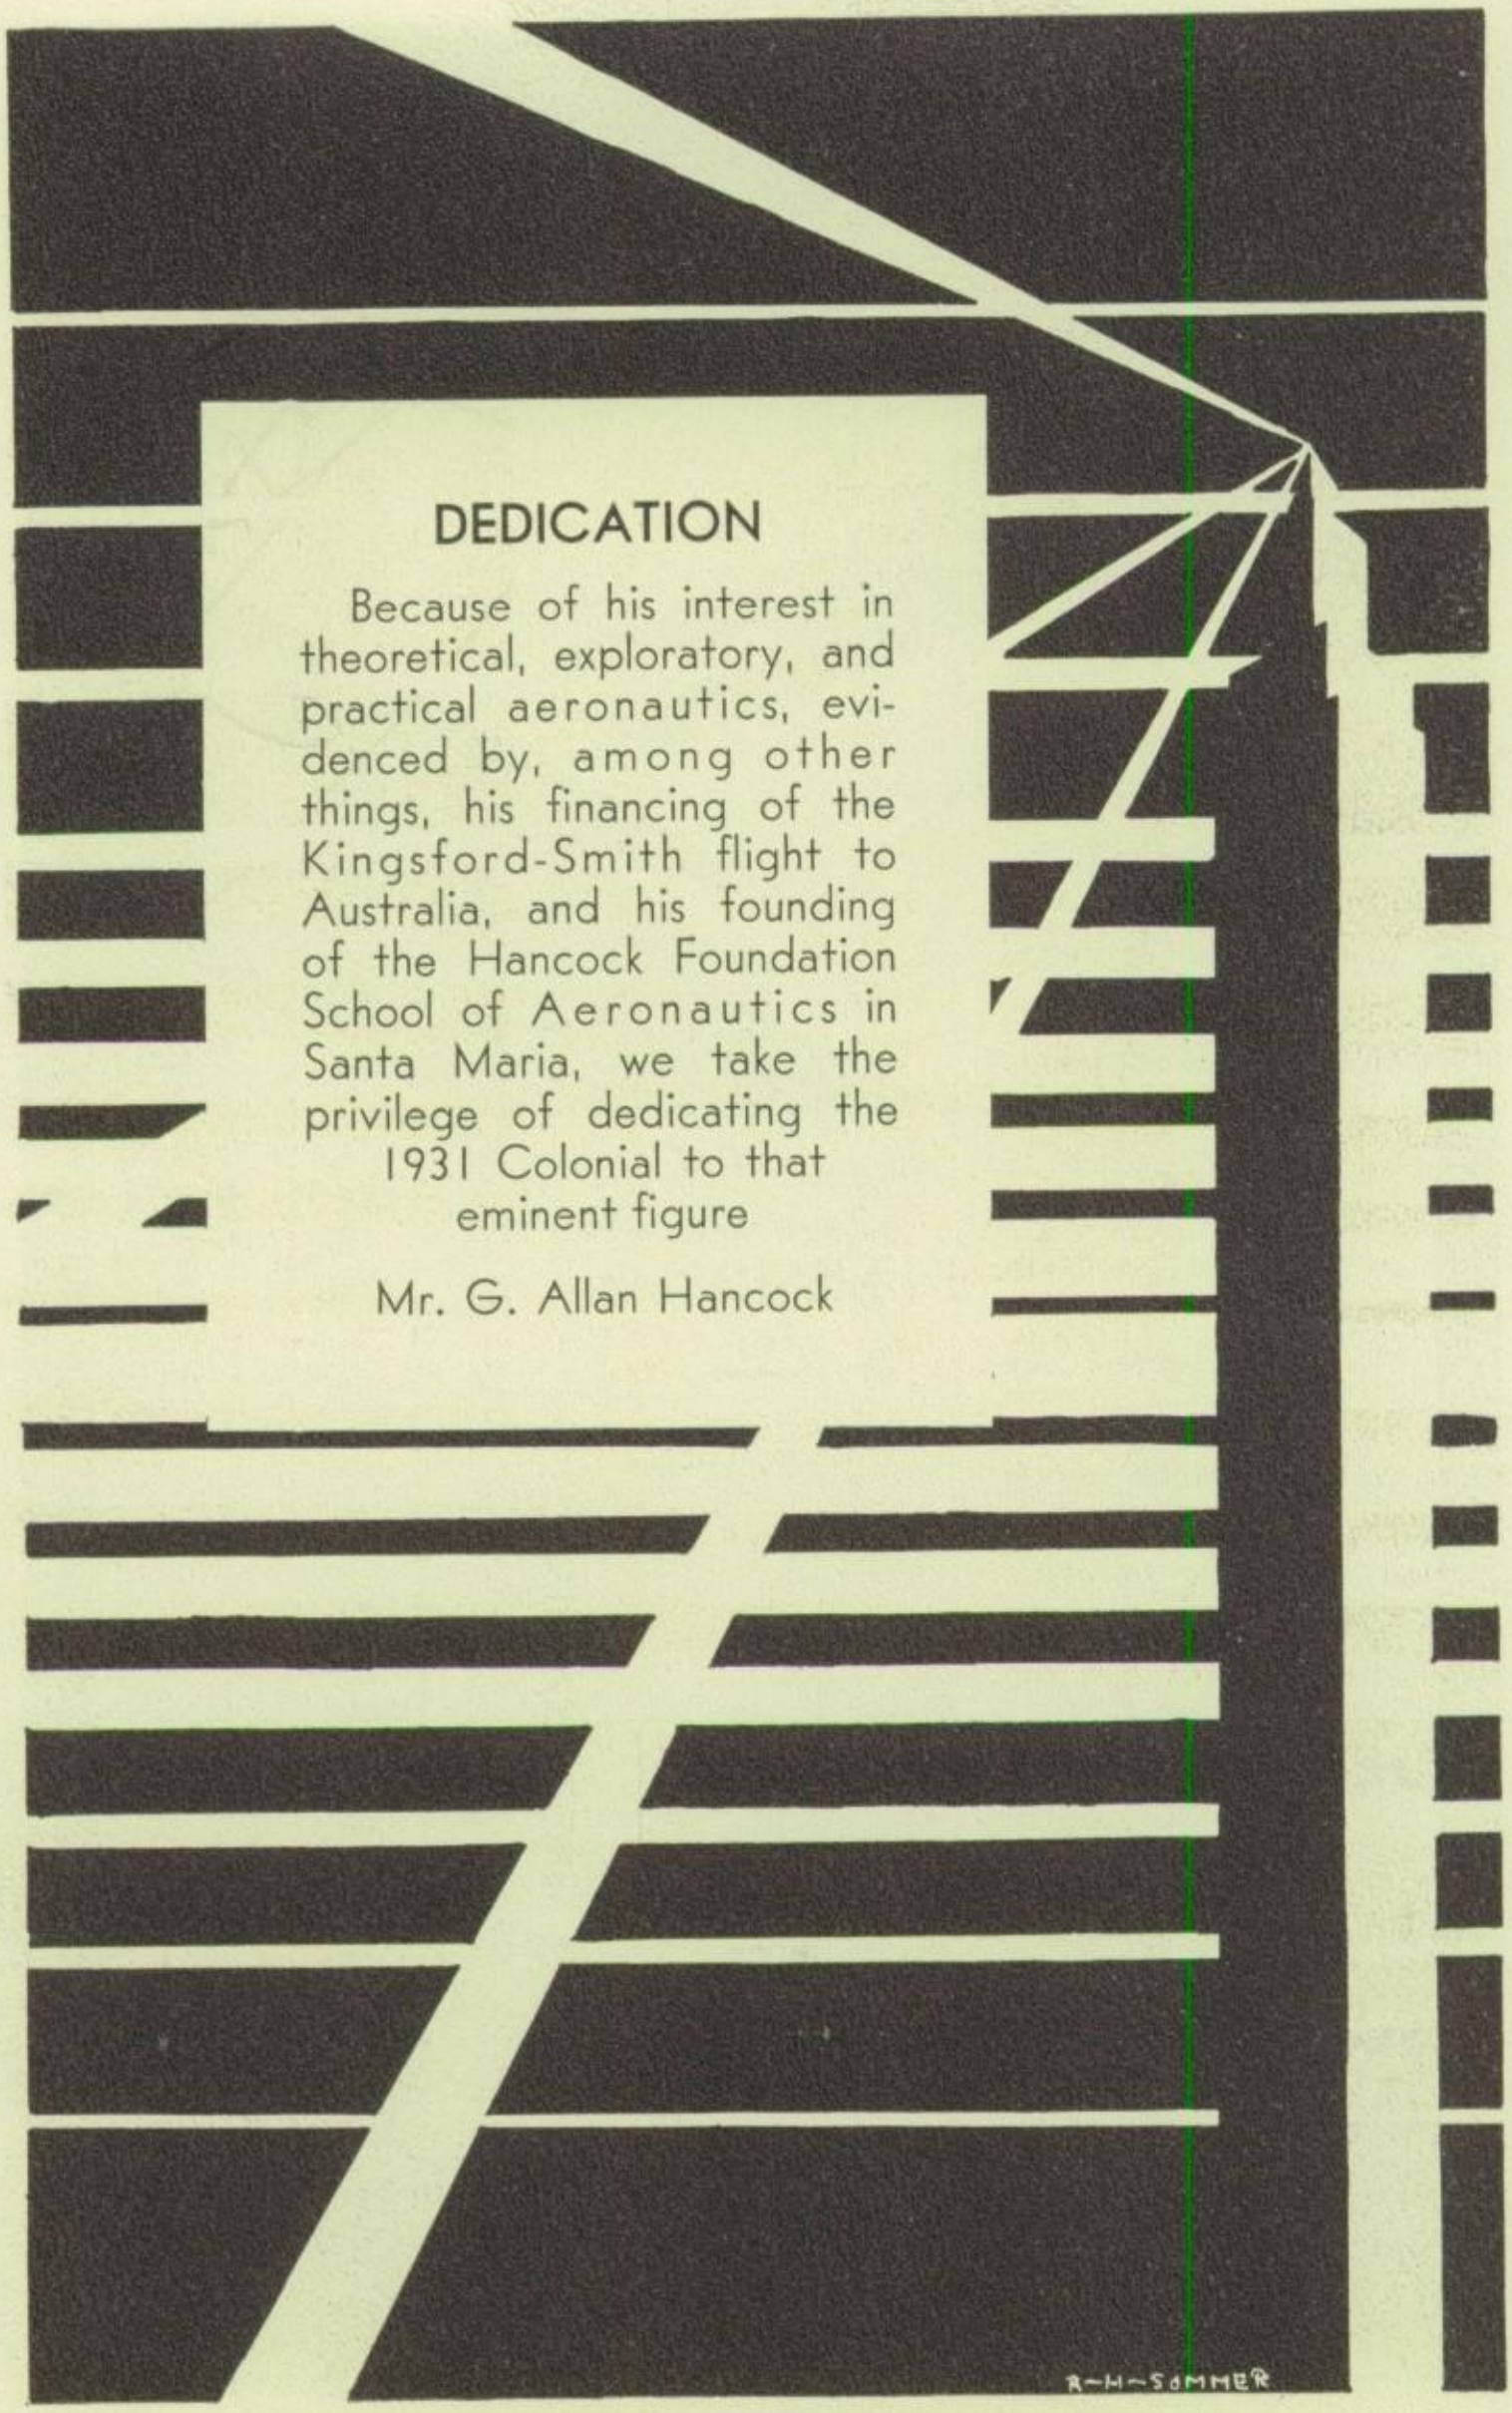
and pilots, among whom efficiency may be attained only by those physically and mentally fit, of high integrity, and who have the capacity to exercise, during the long period required for education and training, vast amounts of patience, perseverance, and obedience. Even a knowledge of such apparently unrelated sciences as mathematics, physics, and chemistry is an essential.

While the road is long, the going is rough, and the rewards to mediocrity are nil, the ambitious young person with these qualities may confidently strike out for the air, the most intriguing of all activities.

With best of luck to you and happy landings.

G. Allan Hancock





DEDICATION
Because of his interest in theoretical, exploratory, and practical aeronautics, evidenced by, among other things, his financing of the Kingsford-Smith flight to Australia, and his founding of the Hancock Foundation School of Aeronautics in Santa Maria, we take the privilege of dedicating the 1931 Colonial to that eminent figure

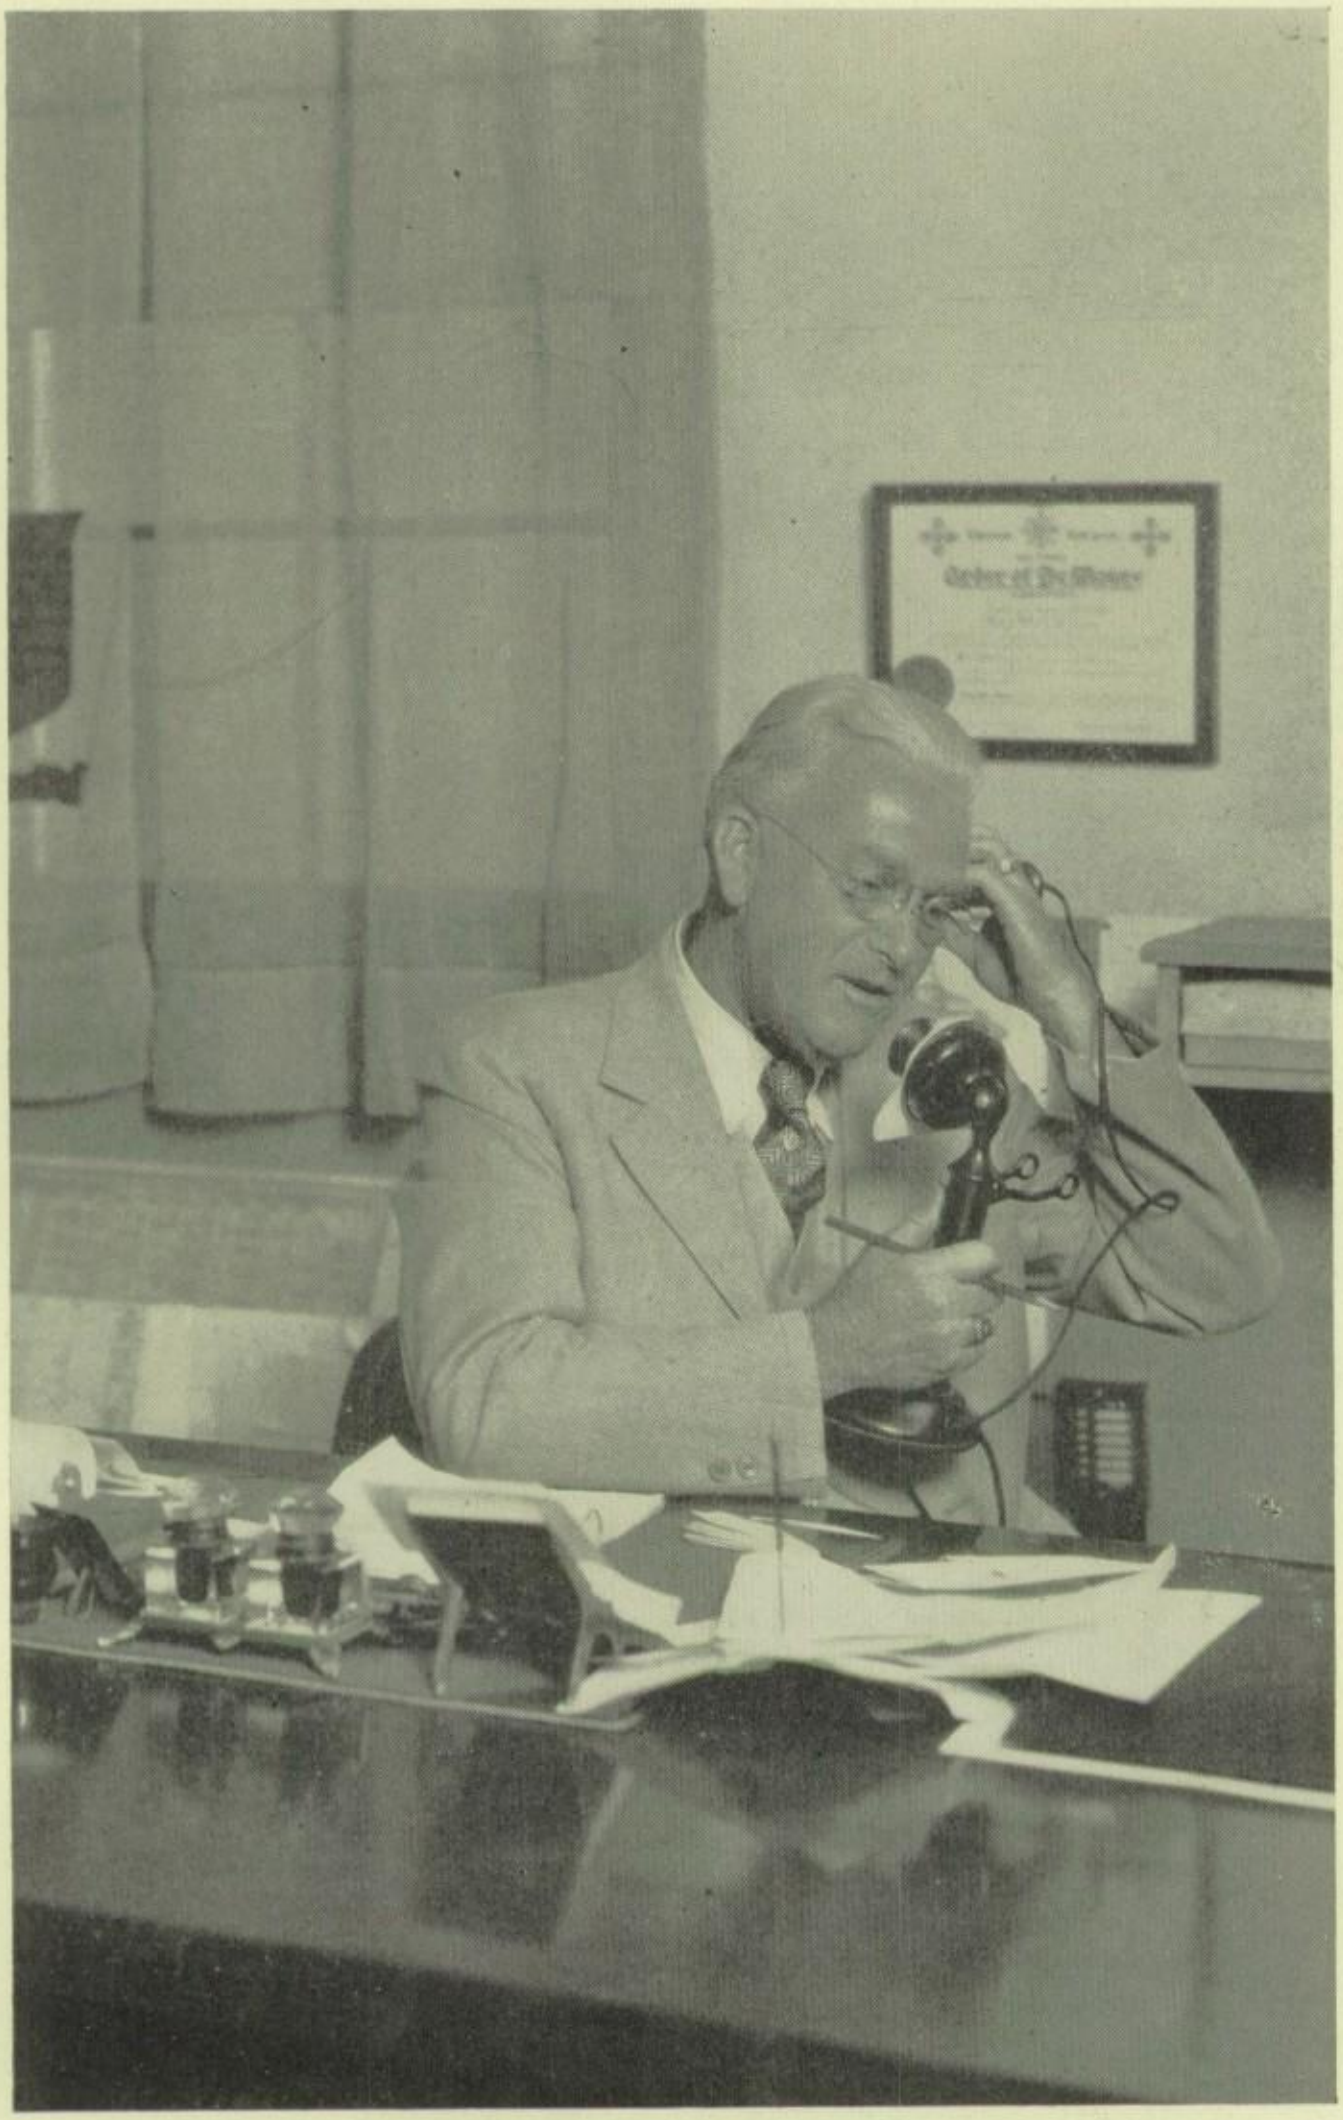
FACULTY



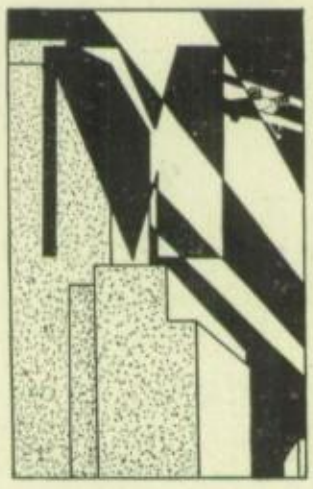
RAE G. VAN CLEVE, Principal

HENEVER one hears of wireless, one thinks of Marconi; when one hears of electricity, one thinks of Edison; the auto suggests Ford; and aviation, Lindbergh.

That young man, without any flourish of trumpets, without any advance agent ballyhoo, overnight sprang from obscurity into national—nay—world fame. And why was he able to make his marvelous, breath-taking flight? I think, first, because he had lived a clean, wholesome life and was physically fit; second, because he had studied aeronautics and planes forward, backward, right and left until he was absolutely master of the subject, and so was mentally fit; and third, because he had absolute and serene confidence in his ability to carry through, and so was spiritually fit.

Only by such three-fold preparation can we hope to make a success in life. I hope that you graduates of Fairfax are now in possession of the first, or physical fitness, through clean, upright, wholesome living; and that you have acquired while with us a taste and a love for study so that you are getting the second; and when these two are yours, the third will follow.

R. S. Van Clove



EMBERS of the Senior Classes:

In these days of the conquest of the air, so many factors enter into a successful flight that it is difficult to choose the most important one. There are some who say that a motor, tuned long and well, is the greatest; others, that staunch and strong material in body and wings is the chief necessity; still others, that a skillful pilot is the most important of all.

Shall we not say that all are essential to the success of the journey?

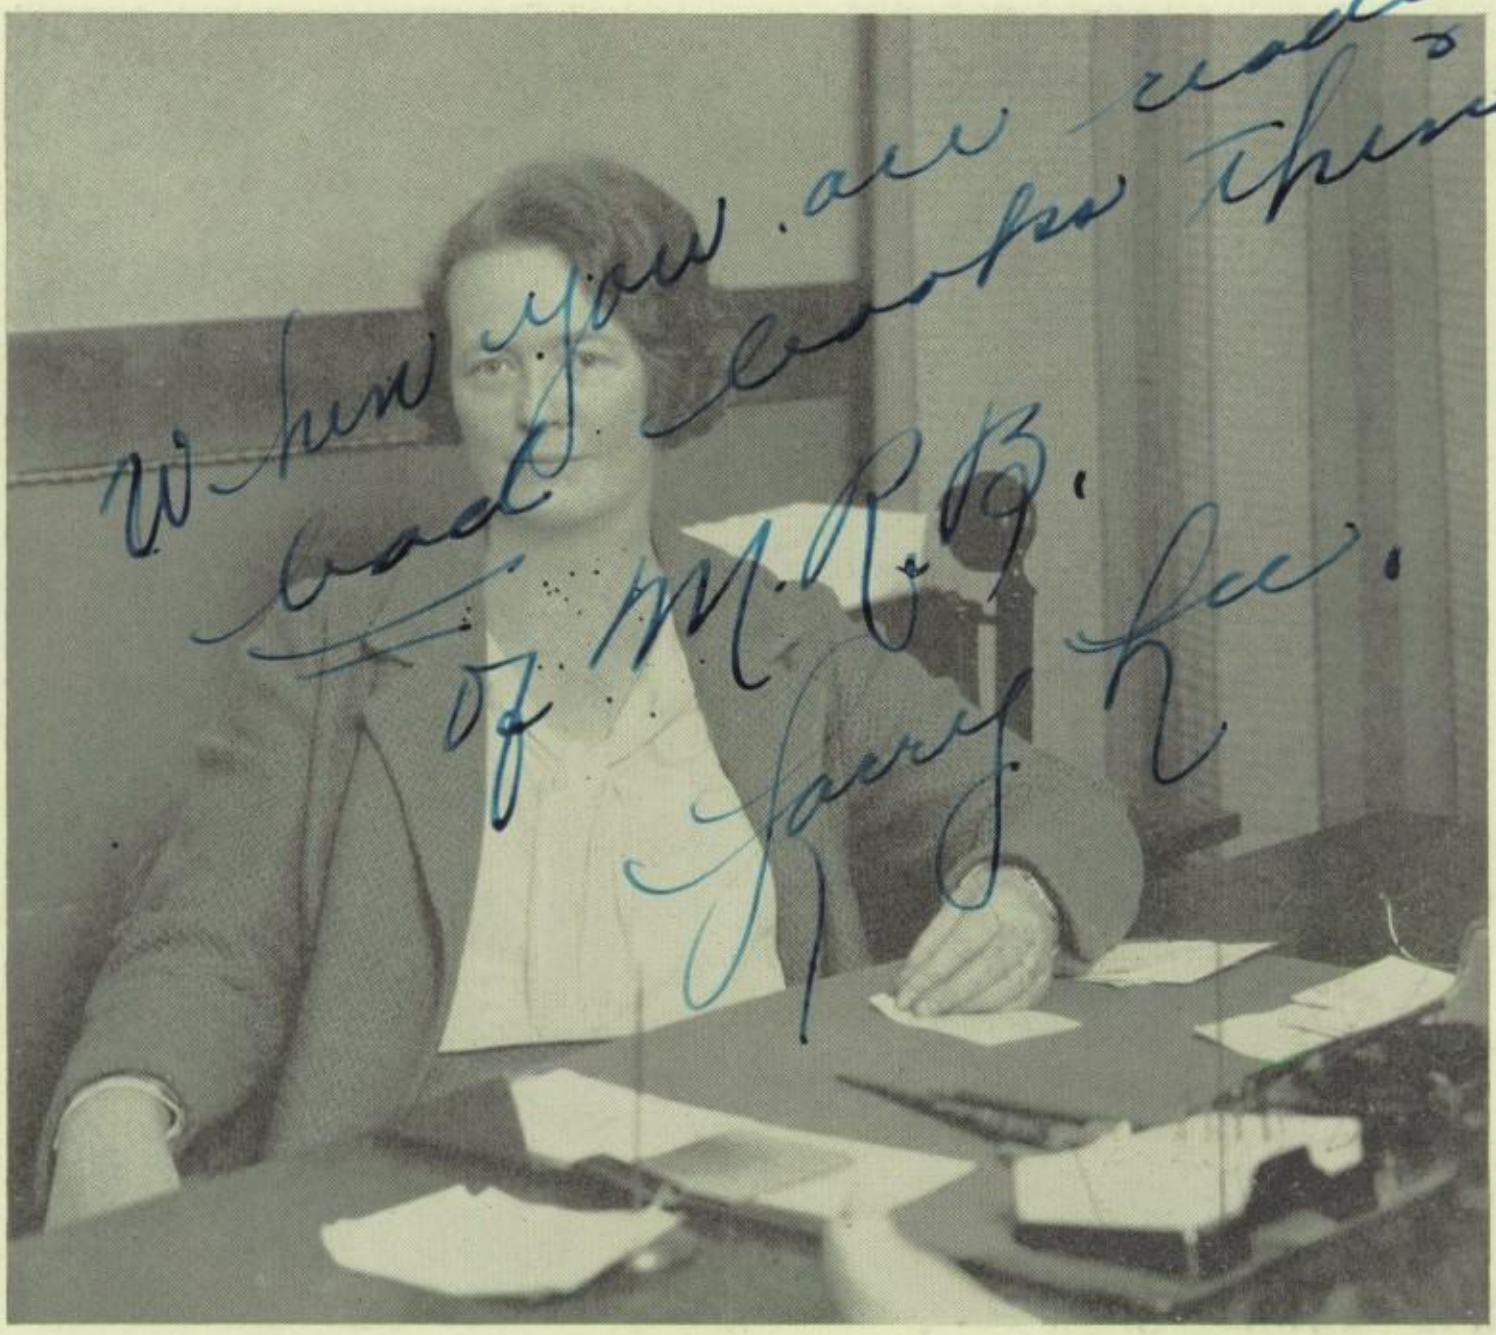
What, then, can be said of the flight so imminent in your lives? What can we say as you approach the take-off? Should so many factors be considered? Physical fitness, years of preparation, strength of character, vision of greatness; are these all worthy of consideration?

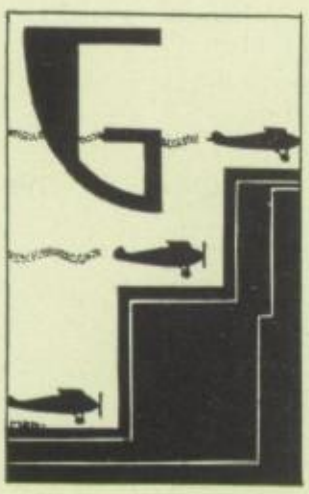
There can be but one answer. These things are vital.

I wish for each and every one of you a safe journey—with steady hand at the controls—with faculties and talents responsive to every demand, with eyes fixed on a definite goal.

And may your landing field be that marked in flaming letters—the field of "Success."

D. S. SWAN, Boys' Vice-Principal.





RADUATES OF S'31:

To be a successful aviator one must have a perfect sense of balance, ability to act quickly in emergencies, infinite patience to go over every little detail of the mechanism, fearlessness but not foolhardiness. With such qualities a man or woman may rise above the world on broad, strong wings, and, seeing afar off, drive straight for the goal.

It is our hope that Fairfax High School has helped you to develop those qualities which will make you successful aviators throughout your lives.

STUDENT

ELLOW STUDENTS:

The present generation is now confronted with a major problem which affects us vitally. Into the governmental structure of the United States has crept a new destructive influence—the rule of the racketeer—which will undermine our social and moral life if not checked in time. It is the duty of all good citizens to wipe out this terrible menace. To equip themselves for this, the young people of today should be trained in governmental duties and be brought to realize the need for greater interest in public affairs. Make it your first duty, fellow students, to concern yourself with your school organization and thus develop your powers of self-government and interest in civic problems.

I want to thank you for placing your trust in me during my term as Lord High Commissioner. My only hope is that I shall prove myself in later life worthy of this honor.

FRED BECKER.

O THE STUDENT BODY:

Serving Fairfax as Lord High Commissioner in my last semester has been both an education and a privilege to me, and, I hope, of benefit to you. Any success that we have achieved is due directly to your co-operation and the helping attitude of the faculty.

In the past years of Fairfax's existence traditions have been established; we have kept them. Not only that, but we have added to them our contributions to the ideals that we wish Fairfax to maintain. Let us hope that our contributions have been, and will be, of lasting value; for we, the pioneer students of our school, lay the foundation upon which many future students will build. Let that foundation be one of true Colonial spirit and loyalty.

Again, may I thank you for the trust you have placed in me, and for four years of friendship and happiness which I shall always treasure.

GEORGE E. BEVIS.

COLONIAL COUNCIL

COMPOSED of the student body officers and other members provided for in the school constitution, the Colonial Council has always been an important part in the administration of Fairfax High School.

Just as Principal Rae G. Van Cleve is the executive branch of Fairfax's three-fold plan of government, and the Assize Courts are the judicial leaders, so the Colonial Council is the legislative organization of the school. All matters pertaining to student body affairs are referred to the Council.

The four chief student body officers, the Commissioners of Boys' Athletics and Girls' Athletics, and the Presidents of the two Assize Courts are elected by the student body to serve on the Council each term. Besides these, other commissioners representing various activities in the school are chosen by the previous Council each semester.

The Commissioner of Advertising is responsible for all school poster displays and the Publicity Commissioner is responsible for all outside advertising. The Commissioner of Clubs supervises all organizations and elections, while the Oral Arts Commissioner takes care of the school's forensic activities. The Commissioner of Safety has the important duties of checking the bleachers before all athletic contests and supervising fire drills. Other minor officers of the Council are President of the Girls' League, Editor of the Gazette, President of the Prometheans, School Historian, and Acting Major of the R. O. T. C.

The outstanding accomplishments of this year's Councils were the purchasing of a portrait of Principal Van Cleve, the compiling of a students' handbook, and the building of the "Big F" on the Hollywood Hills.

The Colonial Councils for both terms, under the leadership of Fred Becker and George Bevis, have functioned very efficiently. To these groups the school owes much of its satisfactory progress.

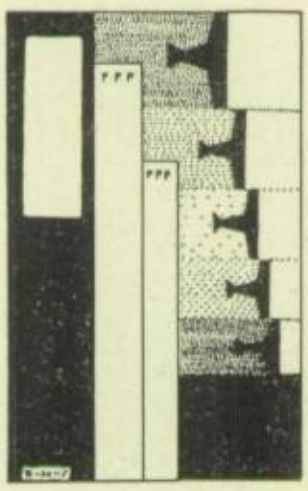
ASSIZE COURTS



IT has been the endeavor of the Boys' and Girls' Assize Courts to guide the students toward the goal of good citizenship, to build up school spirit, and to keep Fairfax's halls, yards, lockers, and assemblies in the best possible condition. A spirit of co-operation has been established, and the student body realizes that the courts are trying to make laws that are adapted to the people.

The two courts, which meet separately, are composed of qualified representatives from the class rooms. Each court has a jury of twelve members which is changed every five weeks to give everyone on the court a chance to serve. In these juries the trials are carried on by regular parliamentary procedure. Each girl and boy brought up before the courts is given a fair chance. It is the desire of the juries to give just verdicts, and to make the guilty individual see his mistake. During the spring term it was necessary to hold meetings at noon.

Officers of the Boys' Assize Court for the first term were George Bevis, presi-president; Karla Snell, vice-president; Frances Brady, secretary; Mary Fisher, assistant secretary; and Helen Benton, treasurer. The following term Louise Braas was re-elected president. Helen Benton served as vice-president, while Frances Brady was again secretary; Catherine Webb, assistant secretary, and Jane Paris, treasurer.

Officers of the Boys' Assize Court for the first term were George Bevis, president; Ben Wilson, vice-president; Ed Chapman, secretary; and Bill Spaulding, treasurer. Randall Spicer was president in the spring term; Michel Gleis, vice-president; Merwin Kendis, secretary; and Phil Benjamin, treasurer.

Class Room Presidents: Back row: E. Moseley, P. Adams, P. Taft, G. McGovern, A. Moser, D. Weisbert, R. Beck, W. Summerfield, J. Wright, A. Clark, C. Baker, W. Thomas, J. Matthess, L. Matthess, F. THE PRESIDENTS' FORUM

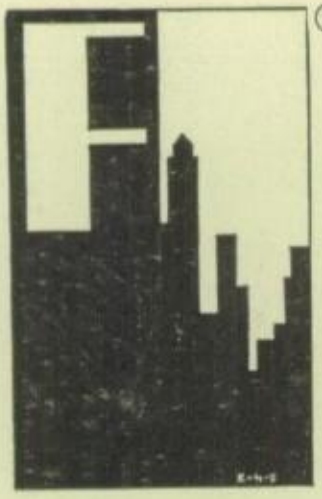
THE President's Forum, conducted bi-weekly by the presidents of each homeroom and the faculty sponsor, Miss Alice Colville, has accomplished much towards bettering Fairfax. Forms for homeroom discussion are drawn up by a committee of which Mrs. Elizabeth Keyes is the active chairman, and are reviewed by Miss Colville and the Lord High Commissioner at the meetings of the presidents, who then lead their respective classrooms in discussions based on these forms.

During the first semester, under the leadership of Fred Becker, Lord High Commissioner, the presidents carried out a complete program of Forums. Suggestions were made by the classrooms to Mrs. Keyes for discussion subjects, and of these, the ones most necessary for consideration were chosen.

Under George Bevis, Lord High Commissioner for the second semester, the improvement of scholarship and citizenship was set as the goal of the semester's Forums. Discussions in the classrooms regarding better scholarship and citizenship were held, and a banner for the homeroom having the highest scholarship record was secured. A banner was also acquired to be given to the classroom having the highest citizenship record for the semester. Success in studies and general school activities was emphasized as being of great importance in after life, and appropriate placards were placed in every classroom. The slogan "What we are to be, we are now becoming" was adopted as the motto of the campaign.

COLONIAL KNIGHTS



OR the honor of the school" was chosen as the motto of the Colonial Knights when they were organized by Vice-Principal D. S. Swan some two years ago. Since that time the organization has steadily extended its duties, and has been working with the aim of fostering a better spirit among the students of Fairfax.

The duties of the organization are to maintain order on the campus and in the auditorium, and to enforce the off-bounds rule during lunch period. The activities of the members are not limited to these few duties, however, but include the encouragement of everything contributing to the betterment of Fairfax.

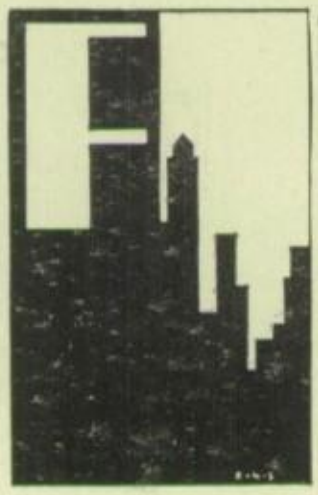
During the first semester, the Colonial Knights were led by Bill Kelly, and during the second, by Bob Lazarus.

Opening the semester's activities by helping the new students to adjust themselves to their new surroundings, the Knights have endeavored to maintain a high standard of service for the students of the school.

With the aid of the Alphas, an organization for girls similar to the Knights, a Code of Ethics was drawn up, which was presented to the student body. In conjunction with the Hi-Y and Lettermen's Clubs the Knights constructed the "Big F" on the hillside directly north of the school.

The Colonial Knights have had a very successful year, and they are sincerely grateful to the faculty and students alike for the willing co-operation they have received.

ALPHAS



OR the purpose of establishing at Fairfax a higher type of girlhood, one of the newest organizations, the Alphas, was formed last October. The members are chosen from a list of girls recommended by the faculty and the Alphas. The group is composed of fifteen girls; seven are Senior A's, five are Senior B's, and three are All's. These are selected because of their leadership and scholastic achievements.

Edna Jones, the first president, deserves much credit for her work in organizing the group. Frances Woodbury was elected vice-president, and Karla Snell served as secretary-treasurer during the first semester. Under the chairmanship of Gertrude Schulze, an adequate constitution was drawn up. The design for the Alpha ring was chosen by Dorothy Donaldson and Louise Braas. The charter members of the Alphas were presented at an assembly, which was planned by Betty Roberts. An Alpha Apple Day was held for the purpose of helping the Girls' League at Christmas time. Each student was asked to bring an apple, but due to the generosity and enthusiasm of many, more apples were obtained than were expected.

Louise Braas, chairman of a committee, drew up a plan to welcome new students. However, it was decided to postpone its use until next fall.

The president of the Alphas for the spring term was Virginia Short. Gertrude Schulze acted as vice-president, and May Hobart was secretary-treasurer.

The organization sponsored two interesting programs for the girls during this term. A Code of Honor written by the Alphas was presented to the girls of the school at an assembly at which Kenneth C. Beaton, prominent newspaper columnist, spoke. A talk on cosmetics by a representative of the Max Factor Company was given at another assembly.

For a new organization, the Alphas have progressed far, and it is expected that they will accomplish more next semester when they are completely organized.

CLASS OF WINTER '31

BLACK and white were chosen as the colors of the class of Winter '31. Alvin Jack was elected president; Frank Reiman served as vice-president; Frances Woodbury was secretary; and Howard Vernon was elected treasurer. Principal Rae G. Van Cleve was made an honorary member of the class.

The W'31 Color Day program, entitled "Black Magic," with Bill Dillon as master of ceremonies, proved to be a huge success. The whole performance consisted of a series of oddly-lighted skits and song and dance numbers, all of which were done before a black back drop.

After extensive tryouts Lane Warden, Olga Mautner, and Dick Gorham were chosen commencement orators.

FAIRFAX ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

ITH each passing year the Fairfax Alumni Association is growing in size and importance and forming an important link in the permanent relations and friendship of the graduate with his Alma Mater.

Following the custom of former years, the annual banquet of the Alumni was held at the Mary Louise Tea Room on December 26. Here the officers for the coming year were elected: Page Parker, W'29, president; Mary Caffray, S'29, secretary, and Joe Copp, S'30, treasurer. There were many graduates of former classes present, as well as their friends, and dance music was furnished by a livelv orchestra composed of Fairfax boys. At this time we cordially invite both of the classes of '31 to join us at the next banquet.

The Alumni were hosts to the student body in June, particularly to the members of the S'31 class, at the annual Alumni Homecoming Day, which was followed in the evening by a reception and dance held in the gymnasium. There was a large attendance, probably due to the fact that those former students who are busy in the daytime could attend an evening affair. It is hoped that this idea may be adopted as one of the traditions of the organization.

The Fairfax Alumni Association has stood the test. Started in 1926, it is now five years old. The first two or three years in the life of a club determine its permanency, and the Fairfax Alumni Association is now an accepted institution.

CLASS OF SUMMER '31

AJOR and minor positions in every branch of school activity have been filled by Summer '31, Fairfax's largest class. S'31 members set a record by holding sixteen of the nineteen Colonial Council offices. Three terms members of this class have headed the Girls' Student Government, while the Boys' Assize Court has been dominated by S'31. In scholarship Senior A's have led the Promethean Society for three consecutive semesters, and have among their thirty-five Prometheans the unprecedented number of eleven California Scholarship Federation members. S'31 has no peer in oratory and debating. It captured the Constitutional Oratorical for two years, and won inter-class debates. The boys of the Summer '31 class have done more than their share in the success won in athletics. The picture, "Wings", presented on Senior B Color Day, was a great success. The Senior A Color Day program will stand out in years to come for beauty, acting, and originality. The members of the class in their green sweaters and white cords or skirts added color to the performance.

Through the excellent work of the class sponsor, Miss Jessie Lickel, and the officers, the affairs of the class have been managed in a very efficient manner. When the class of S'31 leaves this school forever, it will be with the assurance that Fairfax will achieve new glory, upheld by the standards which the class of Summer '31 helped to establish and maintain.

Dear Al:

Being as this is for fresh men you should be splattered all over this Page. Al. old pal I hope you have all the trouble in the world with the women you swiped from me during my stay at T.H.S. I had a hard enough time making them with out having you come along and swipe them. Any way I forgive you as the ones you swiped here the rottenest ones so good luck Pal

THE 1931 "COLONIAL"

STRIVING to surpass all previous annuals, the staff of the 1931 Colonial, under the capable sponsorship of Mr. R. H. Keamer Walter, has, by means of careful planning and skillful workmanship, attempted to make this year's book the most unique and original in the history of Fairfax. Bill Roberts acted as editor during the fall term, and planned most of the book. Upon his election to the S'31 class presidency he was succeeded by May Hobart, former photograph editor.

The staff and sponsors, realizing that the Colonial is primarily a student publication, have tried to produce a book that will prove of lasting interest to every pupil of Fairfax. With this in mind, the subject "Aviation," which today occupies a place of prominence in the mind of every youth, was chosen as the theme. Its clever and adroit handling is the joint work of Miss Margaret Donaldson, art sponsor, and Bob Sommer, art editor. Another step in popularizing the annual was the enlargement of the athletic and school life sections and the choosing of an attractive leather cover to replace the paper one of last year.

Due to the publishing earlier in the term of a booklet consisting entirely of literary work, no literary section appears in the annual this year. As will be noted, the S'31 class color, green, predominates throughout the book.

The important job of handling the finances of the Colonial, together with the responsibility of putting the project on a paying basis, rested on the shoulders of Bob Lazarus, business manager, and Mr. Herman C. Joy, business advisor. Together they supervised the publicity for the annual, the subscription drive, and the securing of all advertisements.

THE COLONIAL GAZETTE

PUBLISHED weekly by the journalism students of Fairfax High School, the Colonial Gazette has become a popular chronicle of student activities.

During the fall semester Bill Roberts was editor-in-chief. Under him were Louise Foster and Gertrude Martin, assistant editors, and Hal Kleinschmidt, sports editor. Other members of the staff were Leon Silverman, Mildred Clarke, Eleanor Booker, Bonita Beamer, Art Pettler, Perry Taft, Fred Becker, May Hobart, and Carolyn Patterson. Morris Parness was advertising manager, and George Sellner was in charge of the circulation.

Hal Kleinschmidt was editor of the Gazette during the spring term. Bill Mack and Art Pettler were his assistants, and Walt

"The Bolonial Gasjet," the first humorous edition of the Gazette ever to appear at Fairfax, was published during the fall term. Written by Fred Becker and Bill Roberts, it proved highly popular. It is hoped that similar editions will be issued in the future.

PUBLICITY STAFF

O keep the taxpayers informed of the progress of their educational institutions is the primary purpose of school publicity work. To this end news of interesting work done in the classes and reports of school activities are sent out daily to Hollywood and Metropolitan papers.

From September 1930 to February 1931, this work was conducted by Lee Erdmann, Commissioner Publicity, under the supervision of Mrs. Jessie Stromberger. Velma Rippetto and Marjorie F. Wood were the correspondents for the two Hollywood Dailies. Carl Siegmund wrote sports news for the Times, and Florence Winston reported for the West Hollywood Tribune. Other members of the class were Violet Baker, George Horton, Ann Toth, and Charles Schur.

For the spring term, Mildred Clarke was elected Publicity Commissioner. Marie Worth Larkin wrote for the West Hollywood Tribune, while Charles Schur and Ellen Schneider and Lilas Miller were correspondents for the Hollywood News and Citizen. Gazzo reported for the Variant.

Helen Harrigan sent copy to the Hancock Park Press, and Hal Kleinschmidt wrote sports news for the Times. Dale de Pierro carried copy every evening and wrote sports. Other members of the class were Phil Anderson and Neal Ifversen.

Altogether, publicity work this year has been carried on very efficiently and effectively.

"Come, come, ladies, one more word and I'll kiss the lot of you."

"For a long time, Mrs. Dowey, ye canna been unaware o' my sonnish feeling for you."

B DRAMA—FALL TERM

M. BARRIE'S famed "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," a play characterized by subtle humor and pathos, was the sole presentation of the B Drama classes during the September-to-February term. With Ambur Dana in the leading role of Mrs. Dowie, the meek little charwoman who adopts the burly Scotch soldier, played by Bill Dillon, the production was one of the most stirring and clearly painted ever presented at Fairfax.

Alice Jane Ballard made her role of the floor-scrubbing Haggerty woman very interesting, while her two "superiors," Mrs. Mickleham and Mrs. Twymley, were enacted by Dorothy Jeakins and Reita Hale. The cast was completed by Robert Stickrod as the clergyman.

Much thought obviously was given the entire selection of characters by Miss Araxie Jamgochian; and the stage set, a crumbling cellar room below a London side street, which was made by members of Mr. Adrian Kurver's class in stage design, was striking in its individuality and drab, barren realism.

Eva: "Isn't this what you always dramed of?"

King: "Lean on? They won't want to lean on you, they'll sit on you."

Eva: "Why, there's only one thing to do. We must all go to work!"

"A" DRAMA (FALL TERM)

"Adam and Eva", a sprightly production involving numerous laughs, was the play chosen by the Senior class of Winter '31 for presentation during the fall semester. Interpreting delightfully the brilliant ideas and consequential positions of a modern American family of wealth, the single cast was as follows:

James King	Bill Dillon
Eva King	Virginia Rankin
Adam Smith	James Pettit
Horace Pilgrim	Seymour Levenburg
Julie De Witt	Dorothy Harris
Clinton De Witt	Frank Reiman
Corinthia	Vivian Brooks
Dr. Delamater	Al Jack
Abbey Rocker	Lois Voshell

SCHOOL GIFTS

During the six years in which the Dramatic Department has been working for the entertainment of the school and the training of its members, a considerable amount of their contributions to the school have been overlooked. They have not merely contented themselves with the production of plays but have given liberally of the proceeds of their performances towards the improvement and extension of school equipment. From these expenditures the stage, the dramatics room and the library have benefited particularly, but they have in turn been the better able to serve the school as a whole.

For the Department in general there have been purchased, among smaller items, a scrapbook to hold write-ups and photographs of the plays. These latter were themselves purchased from the same fund. A filing cabinet and a library of some three hundred pamphlet plays have helped in improving the efficiency of the students.

In the room itself the bare stage provided initially by the school has been made more useful and more attractive by the addition of pictures and furniture. The curtain so necessary to the real rehearsal of plays was also bought and installed with money from the same source.

There has always been a need for such mirrors in the dressing rooms as are used on professional stages. There are installed "make-up" mirrors, illuminated in a manner which will give the same glow as do the footlights. This makes for accuracy in make-up and confidence in the actor. Two doors needed in many sets were provided at another time. Deficiencies in electrical equipment are sometimes the most irritating of lacks. Effects otherwise unobtainable have been made possible through timely donations from the dramatics fund.

The general interests of all students have been served by the supply to the library for years of the Theatre Arts Monthly. Prints illustrating the growth of the stage and reference books to the value of sixty dollars have been placed on the shelves for any one to use.

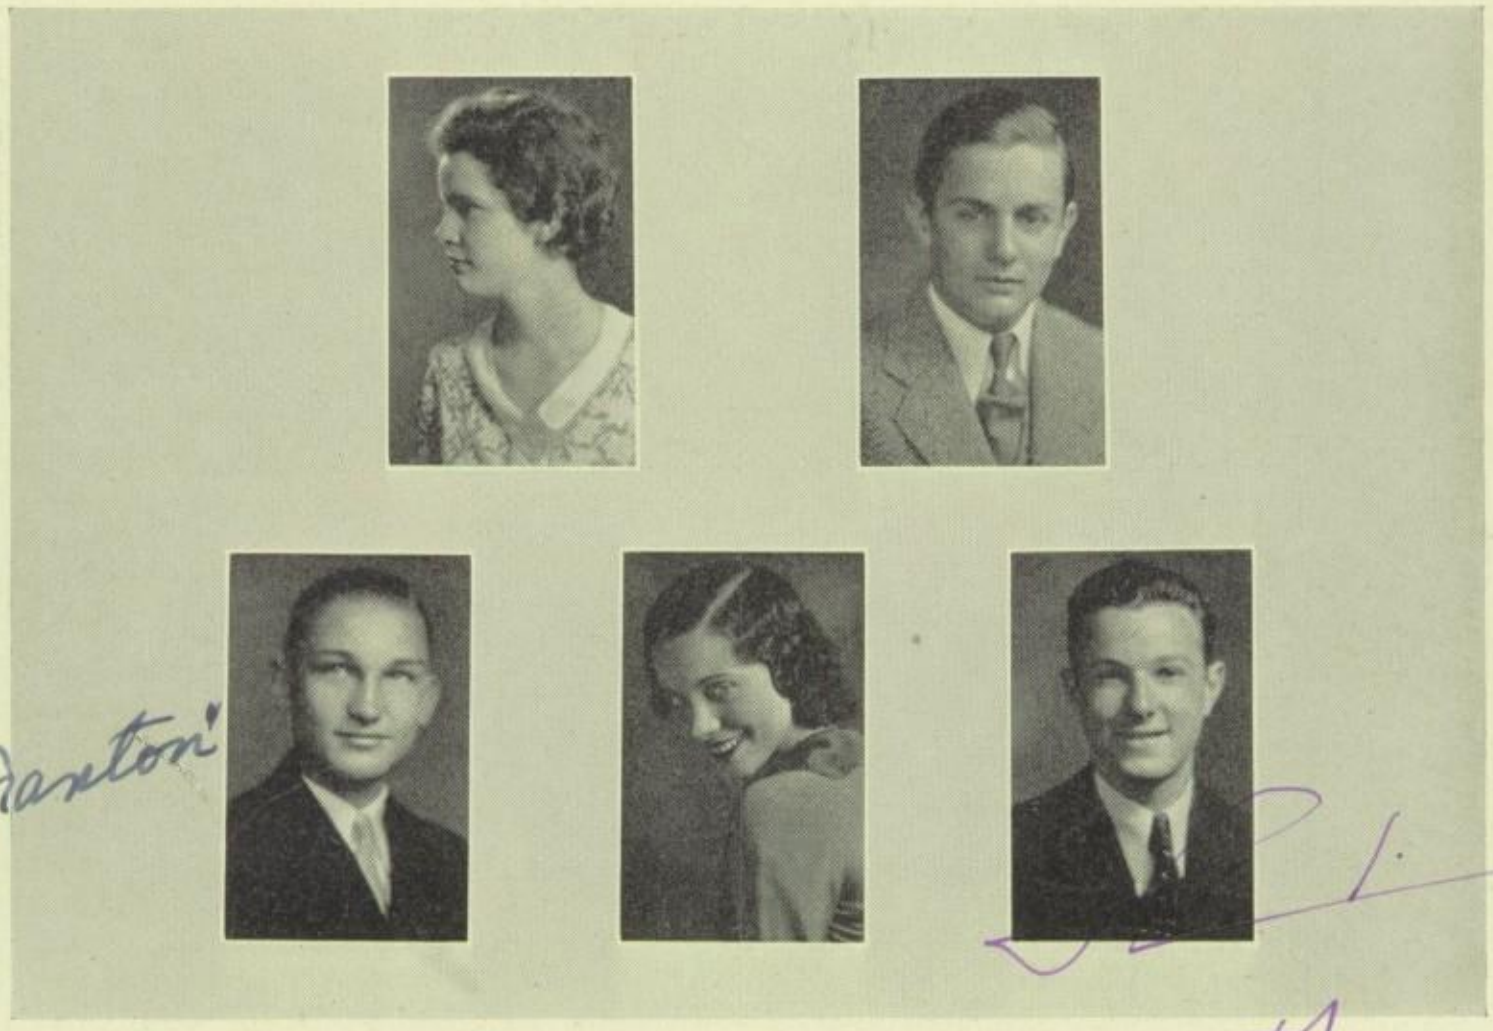
From these facts it can be seen that the Dramatics department has in more than obvious ways been working for the good interest of Fairfax.

"B" DRAMA (SPRING TERM)

PARKLING satire characterized the second act of George Kelly's "The Torch-Bearers," which was the presentation of the B Drama class of the spring term under the direction of Miss Araxie Jamgochian.

Dealing with the trials of an extremely amateurish small-town theatrical group, the play was probably the most hilarious ever produced by beginning dramatic students at Fairfax. Particularly notable were the amusing character parts of Martha Messinger, as the pompous Mrs. Pampinelli; and Victoria Jack, playing the weeping, red-eyed "poor dear,"—Clara Shepperd. Other characters were as follows:

Mr. Hossefrosse	Robert Brown
Mr. Spindler	Jack Oberg
Mrs. Ritter	Betty Van Sickle
Mr. Twiller	Joe Caplan
Teddy	Gilbert Harrison
Florence	Mildred Morris
Stage Manager	Oscar Castorina
Nelly Fell	Hazel Welch



Dorothy Donaldson — Walt Wortham
Perry Taft — Eleanor Peterson — Karl Herlinger

"A" DRAMA (S'31 TERM)

ROBERT E. SHERWOOD'S brilliant comedy success, "The Queen's Husband," which was instantly popularized on the professional stage by Edward Everett Horton, was the play selected for presentation by the summer class of 1931.

Characterized by subtle, satirical humor that was brought to a perfection in the King, and a glamour of setting and costuming never before equaled in school dramatics, the production has been declared the most refreshingly genuine and spectacular piece of work ever done by a graduating class at Fairfax. The characters were as follows, in order of appearance:

Frederick Granton	Perry Taft
Phipps	Ray Crouse
Lord Birten	Karl Herlinger
Petley	Dorothy Jeakins
Princess Anne	Eleanor Peterson
Queen Martha	Dorothy Donaldson
First Lady-in-Waiting	Victoria Jack
Second Lady-in-Waiting	Lee Erdman
General Northrup	Jack Smith
King Eric VIII	Walt Wortham
Major Blent	Al Wootten
Dr. Fellman	Norman Schwartz
Prince William	Fred Pullen
Laker	Ed Mosely

DEBATING AND ORATORY

LTHOUGH working under a handicap, the students participating in forensics have accomplished much this year. During the fall semester a debating class was organized by Mr. Homer L. Goddard, but in the spring the students were forced to work without coaching.

Bob Schroeder and Gilbert Harrison, A10's, won the inter-class debate held in the fall by defeating Samuel Kerner and Fred Downer, also A10's. The question was: "Resolved, That when high school boys and girls go out together, the expenses should be equally shared." A new plan was used by which all classrooms had entrants.

A simultaneous debate was held with Glendale High School during the fall semester on the question: "Resolved, That homework in high schools should be abolished." Walt Wortham and Bill Thomas, upholding the affirmative, were defeated at Fairfax, while Bob Lazarus and George Bevis, defending the negative, won at Glendale.

The topic for the inter-class debates in the spring was: "Resolved, That jazz is a sign of deterioration of modern youth." Again winning the cup, Gilbert Harrison and Bob Schroeder defeated Robert Dickey and Fred Downer of the negative in the finals held in the school auditorium April 30. Fred Downer was chosen first speaker.

In a debate with Franklin High School on the topic: "Resolved, That the United States should recognize the government of Russia," Gilbert Harrison and Martin Covel of the affirmative lost at Fairfax. Marco Thorne and Evelyn Whitlow of the negative were defeated at Franklin. A simultaneous debate was held with Belmont High School on the question: "Resolved, That the four-quarter plan for schools should be adopted in Los Angeles."

George Bevis won in school and district, but was second in group E finals.

THE GIRLS' LEAGUE

UNDER the leadership of Violet Baker during the fall semester, and Virginia Osborne the spring term, the Girls' League made much progress this year. The other first semester officers were Virginia Osborne, vice-president; Mary Brown, secretary; and Anna Lanneau, treasurer. During the spring term the positions were held by Barbara FitzGerald, vice-president; Mary Brown, secretary; and Anna Lanneau, treasurer.

The purposes of the Girls' League are to promote a better feeling of friendship among the girls of Fairfax and to perform charity work. Much has been accomplished by the League during the past year. At Thanksgiving food contributed by each home-room was sent to Fairfax's adopted school, Hammel Street. At Christmas time the children of Hammel were made happy by an entertainment and the distribution of stockings filled with toys and candy, which were prepared by the Girls' League. Money for this purpose was obtained from the dues collected from the girls each term and from the proceeds of a student talent program. This year the League has also furnished the girls' rest room, which exists for the benefit and comfort of the girls.

Social activities promoted by the organization were the afternoon "penny dances" and the Girls' Hi-Jinks. The latter, which had for its theme this year "Just Imagine," is held yearly for the girls of the school and their mothers. A program was given in the auditorium, consisting of skits presented by the various clubs in the school, and dancing and refreshments were afterwards enjoyed in the gym. The afternoon "penny dances," which proved to be very successful, originated during the spring term.

Mrs. Gladys Henry—faculty sponsor of the organization—the officers, cabinet, and the League itself deserve much credit for the valuable work they have done for Fairfax.

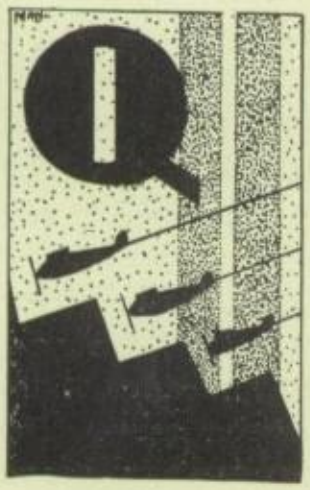
THE LIBRARY



QUIET, inviting, helpful, popular,—the Fairfax High School library has become an indispensable part of the school. In the seven years of its existence Fairfax has accomplished much towards the building of an adequate school library. Each year has seen inauguration of a greater selection of books and a more efficient system of handling them.

The library assistants are kept busy supplying books to the students, who are not permitted to go to the shelves themselves. Library workers receive one-half a credit, and classes in library training are conducted every week by Miss Helen Estill, librarian.

The library has become a favorite place for students and teachers to gain additional information on any subject. Books of fiction, non-fiction, and reference are always available to supplement almost every school study. Works on philosophy, natural science, sociology, language, useful arts, fine arts, literature, and history may be found there.

The entire atmosphere of the library is conducive to study. Large windows on three sides of the room afford a restful view of the Hollywood hills. Window boxes filled with flowers contribute to the beauty of the room. The walls are adorned with interesting maps and paintings, portraits of Principal Rae G. Van Cleve and Mr. William Paxton, head of the art department, occupying prominent positions. The rows of tables filled with busy students and the crowds clustered about the main desk and filing cabinets daily attest to the popularity of our library.

THE cafeteria has become a most important institution in the life of Fairfax. Those working there have labored hard every day to satisfy the demands of faculty and students.

Under the capable supervision of Karl Herlinger and Charles Schur, student managers the first and second semesters, the activities of the cafeteria have been carried on in a manner that insures the highest degree of speed and courtesy possible.

A great deal of credit should be given to Miss Mae McKinley and her helpers, who, by their hard work, have developed the consistent excellency of food and service in the cafeteria.

STUDENT SERVICE

PART of the student government not always given full credit for its hard work and steady grind is composed of the students' store, the candy stand, the attendance office, and the treasurer's office.

"We Treat You Right!" That has been the policy and motto of the Fairfax Students' Store ever since its organization in 1925, and through the co-operation of the students and faculty it has proven itself a great necessity to the school.

The candy pavilion continues to hold the popularity of the student body, and has proved itself one of the main sources of the revenue of the student body. During the two lunch periods the stand is managed ably by students.

The Treasurer's Office is the financial center, the bank, clearing house, and accounting department for the Student Body of Fairfax. The vast amount of business conducted through this office gives an opportunity for practical business experience to many student helpers, who are selected for their ability and integrity.

Without the aid of these organizations the affairs of the student body could not run as smoothly as they do.

PROMETHEAN SOCIETY

RGANIZED six years ago, the Promethean Society, Fairfax scholarship group, became the 140th Chapter of the California Scholarship Federation two years later. The purpose of this organization is to serve the school. This aim has been fulfilled by members who have sacrified their time in tutoring students who need help in their studies.

To become a Promethean it is necessary to receive three A's in solids and no grade less than B in any subject counting toward graduation. When a student has attained membership for four semesters, one of which must be in his senior year, he becomes a member of the California Scholarship Federation, and receives a gold seal on his diploma.

Prometheans are granted certain privileges, such as meeting once a month during school time and enjoying a semi-annual half-holiday. Each term this group edits an edition of the Gazette, and gives a Promethean assembly. It is customary during the fall semester for the society to hold a banquet as its social event.

Several interesting speakers were presented to the club at the regular monthly meetings. Miss Marion Bowen, popular columnist of the Hollywood Citizen, entertained the group with a fascinating talk concerning her adventures in Europe on a bicycle. Among other interesting features on this semester's program were two talks —one by an accomplished reader, Miss Mills, and another by a well-known newspaper man.

The past semester has been one of the most successful in Promethean history.

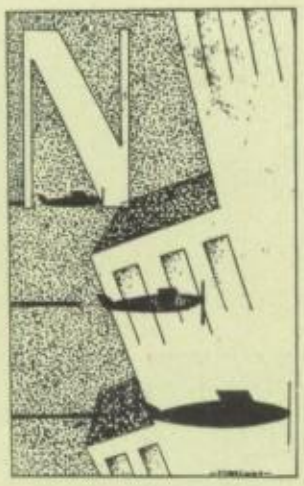
THE SEASON IN BRIEF REVIEW



NEW opponents faced Fairfax in the autumn of 1930, when the new twelve-school city league was inaugurated. The schools included in this group were Manual, L. A., Hollywood, Lincoln, Fairfax, Belmont, Poly, Fremont, Franklin, Roosevelt, Garfield and Jefferson.

For the football season the league was divided into two sections. Fairfax met Manual, Lincoln, L. A., Fremont, and her traditional rival, Belmont.

In the first game the Colonials were defeated by the league champions, Lincoln, 6 to 0. After this the team was unable to hold its own with the other schools, due to the fact that the whole squad, with the exception of Captain Carlton, was green material.

Coach Frank Shaffer fulfilled his pre-season prediction by producing a championship lightweight football team led by Captain Carl Siegmund.

The C team, coached by Francis Rublee and Dee Futch, took second place in the city.

When basketball season rolled around, Coach Ross Bowen was handicapped by a lack of reserves. His first string was one of the best in the city, but the removal of any one man disrupted the smooth running machine.

Two heart-breaking defeats at the hands of Hollywood and Jefferson, 22 to 17 and 17 to 16, relegated Fairfax to fourth place in the final standings.

The B's, coached by Keith Lloyd, ended up in third place after two trouncings and four victories.

The 1931 track season brought forth some of the greatest athletes Fairfax has ever had. Though the group was strong individually, the lack of an outstanding pole vaulter and shot putter kept the team from placing higher in the city meet, in which it took third place with 22 points. Poly won the title with 33 points, while Manuel was second with 31 7/10.

All the men who placed in the city advanced to the Southern California meet, and had good chances of going to the state meet.

The B and C track teams, coached by Ross Bowen, gave good accounts of themselves, the lightweights taking seventh with 12.1 points, and the C's fifth with 8.

THE PRACTICE SEASON

FAIRFAX was found to be an unknown quantity at the opening of football season. In the scrimmaging the Colonials defeated Beverly Hills High twice, lost a 7 to 6 verdict to Inglewood, and emerged with a 13 to 2 victory over Muir Tech.

In regular scheduled practice games, Fairfax won a thrilling game from Santa Monica High, 6 to 0, when Meade intercepted a pass and went over for the score. Aleidis saved the Burbank game by catching a long pass over the goal line to tie the score, 6 to 6.

The pre-season games made it apparent that the Colonials must depend upon a brilliant aerial offensive to offset a rather mediocre running attack.

LINCOLN GAME

UTTING up a strong defense, the Colonials played "heads-up" football to hold Lincoln to a 6 to 0 victory in the first game of the season on the Hollywood High field. Although Fairfax had more fight than Lincoln, it did not have the punch to put the ball over the goal.

The lone score was made by Garbo in the second quarter on a short line buck after a Colonial punt had been blocked on the 20-yard line.

Twice more during the game the Tigers advanced to the 5-yard line, only to be blocked by a courageous line, of which Hoy and Dickerson were the main pillars.

In the last quarter the Colonials unleashed a passing attack that took them to the 20-yard line, but on a long incomplete pass over the goal line blasted all hopes for a tie or possible one-point margin over the visitors.

LOS ANGELES GAME

Outplayed but not outfought, the Colonials went down to a 28 to 0 defeat at the hands of the L. A. High Romans before 4000 fans, the largest crowd ever seen on Van Cleve field.

BELMONT GAME

REAKING a three-year jinx of scoreless ties, Belmont won the annual "big game" by a 12 to 0 score.

The first half was fought very evenly, neither team having an edge, and it looked as if another scoreless tie was in store for the two teams.

Coming back in the second half, however, Belmont got a lucky break when a fluke Fairfax kickoff was recovered on the 50-yard line. From there a beautiful 45-yard pass was thrown, putting the ball on Fairfax's 5-yard line, and Belmont's star halfback, Bertino, took it over. Again in the fourth quarter Bertino scored, this time after a 40-yard drive.

The only Fairfax threat was in the second quarter when the Colonials advanced to Belmont's 10-yard line only to lose the ball on a pass over the goal.

GARFIELD GAME

Due to vandalism on the part of six Fairfax students, the Garfield game, the only one that Fairfax was doped to win, was called no game, and later decided to forfeit.

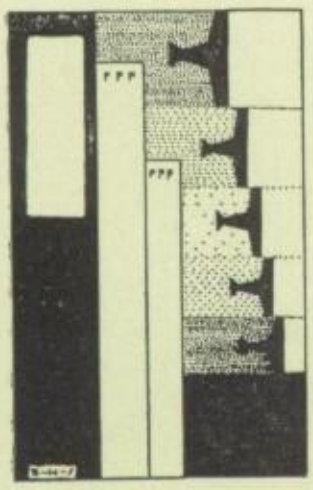
MANUAL GAME



N a game played on Van Cleve field, the Manual Arts Toilers rolled up a 41 to 0 score over the Colonials.

The Colonial second string entered the fray in the second quarter and played as well as the first string. The half ended with four touchdowns for Manual.

In the second half the Toilers made two touchdowns; one by blocking a Fairfax punt, the other by sending a pass over the goal.

FREMONT GAME

Led by Walter Clark, brilliant all-city quarterback, the Fre mont Pathfinders handed Fairfax its worst defeat in history when they swamped the Colonials 51 to 0.

Clark was the individual star, scoring six touchdowns single-handed, and figuring in nearly every scoring play.

The Pathfinders scored but once in the first quarter, but by the end of the first half brought the score to 26 to 0. Clark gained almost 20 yards on every play in which he carried the ball.

Fairfax was unfortunate in its first year in the new major league football in that the material was practically all green, and could not be rounded into a team on a par with the other squads of the city.

"B" FOOTBALL

STARTING the season as an unknown quantity, the Fairfax lightweights, under the able coaching of Frank Shaffer, proved to be one of the greatest "B" teams ever seen on a local high school gridiron. The Fairfax Babes had a difficult schedule; none of the games were set-ups. The two hardest battles were with L. A. and Fremont, in which the Colonials proved themselves worthy of the title "lightweight champions of the city." Marvelous teamwork and clean, hard fighting were shown by the men in every game.

LINCOLN GAME

In their first game the Fairfax Babes defeated the Lincoln lightweights 25 to 6. The Colonials received the kick-off, and Captain Carl Siegmund went over for a touchdown, while Petrone converted. The rest of the half was featured by Joe Passin's marvelous defensive work. The Rail-splitters came back in the third quarter when a left end run gave them their lone touchdown. The real feature of the game was the strong Colonial line. Much credit should be given Coach Frank Shaffer for developing it from almost green material.

L. A. GAME

BACKED by four hundred loyal students, the Fairfax lightweights met the strong L. A. Babes on Housh field, and defeated them 13 to 0. This was the first time in five years that the Roman lightweights had been defeated. The first Fairfax score came in the second quarter. The third period was evenly fought. In the first part of the fourth quarter the visitors scored another touchdown. In the last part of this period the Roman lightweights made a powerful comeback, but the Fairfax line held.

GARFIELD GAME

Meeting the comparatively weak Garfield lightweights on Van Cleve field, the Colonial Babes won by a 27 to 0 score. The game was very slow, even though Garfield fought hard. Garfield threatened the Colonials' goal but once, in the last quarter, when a pass was completed, putting the ball on the 10 yard line. A 40 yard run by Captain Carl Siegmund resulted in the last score.

BELMONT

DISPLAYING a powerful running attack, the Colonial Babes won an 18 to 6 verdict over the Belmont lightweights on Van Cleve field. In the first quarter the visitors blocked a Colonial punt and ran for a touchdown. The second period was scoreless, with both teams fighting hard. In the third quarter, Siegmund ran 50 yards behind beautiful interference to score. The second touchdown was also due to Captain Siegmund, who bucked it over from the 4-yard line after several end runs. Passin took the ball over for the final score.

MANUAL GAME

Traveling to Manual, the Fairfax lightweights met their toughest opposition, and were barely able to overcome it, the final score being 7 to 0. On four line bucks Captain Siegmund and Chuck McGowan carried the ball to Manual's 15 yard line, and McGowan made the lone score. Petrone converted. In the second quarter Captain Siegmund ran 75 yards for a touchdown, but the ball was called back when the referee claimed Siegmund has stepped outside on the 50 yard line. The last half was evenly fought.

FREMONT GAME

COACH FRANK SHAFFER'S Lightweights became champions of the City Leaque when they tied the strong Fremont team 0 to 0 on the Pathfinders' field, thereby making themselves the only undefeated team in the league. This is the second lightweight championship Fairfax has won; the first was in 1926 with Mr. LeRoy Goodenough coaching.

The deciding game was the most hectic lightweight battle ever seen on a local high school gridiron. It was featured by brilliant playing on the part of Carl Siegmund, Colonial captain, who constantly swept around Fremont ends and tackles for large gains. In the second half Fairfax started a drive across the Pathfinders' goal but lost the points through a penalty. From that time on Fremont held its own.

On a mythical all-city lightweight team picked by Coaches Frank Shaffer and Keith Lloyd, eight Fairfax men were honored. They were Lorch and Bruce, ends; Mac Passin, tackle; Elliot and Petrone, guards; Rouse, center; Siegmund, quarter, and McGowan, halfback.

"C" FOOTBALL

JUST half a game behind Franklin, who led the league, the Colonial C football team, coached by "Bud" Rublee and Dee Futch, finished in second place. The squad had a successful practice season, winning two games and losing one.

On a slippery, muddy field, the C team opened the season against Poly on the Mechanics' field. Though Fairfax outplayed Poly the game ended 0 to 0. After a severe attack of stage fright during which Los Angeles scored a touchdown, the Colonials came back with a rush to win over the Romans 7 to 6. Garfield fell by the wayside when the Fairfax boys triumphed 12 to 0. Hooking with their ancient rival, Belmont, the Colonial midgets easily disposed of the Hilltoppers, 14 to 0.

"A" BASKETBALL

WITH three lettermen from last year's championship team and two members of the lightweight team, the 1930-31 Colonial basketball team had an excellent first string, but the lack of outstanding substitutes handicapped the squad. Coach Ross Bowen deserves a great deal of credit for bringing his team to fourth place in the first year of competition in the new league. Pat Nicholson proved to be one of the best forwards in the city. Captain Jack Bergman, Walt Thomas and Jack Williams were demons on defense, while "Bid" Spicer proved his worth at center. The attendance was large at all the games.

POLY GAME

Winning its 18th consecutive league victory, the Colonial heavyweight basketball team opened up the season with a hard fought 14 to 10 triumph over the Poly Mechanics.

Both teams put up a marvelous defense that was hard to penetrate. "Bid" Spicer drew first blood with a free throw, and the quarter ended 3 to 2 in favor of Fairfax. The Colonials opened up and scored five points while the Mechanics could gain but one, making the score at the half 8 to 3. The final score was 14 to 10. Pat Nicholson was high point man with seven digits.

BELMONT GAME

Avenging the 12 to 0 defeat in football, Captain Bergman led the Colonials to 12 to 7 victory over the Belmont Hilltoppers in the losers' gym. This marked the nineteenth consecutive victory for Fairfax. With a tight defense, each team could score but one point to make the score 4 to 3 at the half. Both kept pace in the third period with 3 points each. With a one point margin, Walt Thomas became a dead-eye and dropped in two baskets to put the game on ice and to make himself high point man.

HOLLYWOOD GAME

Hollywood put the Colonial hopes of a fourth straight basketball championship to flight when, in a hectic game, they defeated Fairfax 22 to 17 before a capacity crowd. The defeat marked the first loss for the Colonials in the past four years. The officials were unusually severe, Spicer, Thomas, and Williams being replaced during the game. Fairfax took early lead and was ahead 7 to 4 at the first quarter. The Sheiks tied it up 9 all at the half, and with but two regulars in for Fairfax, Hollywood gradually drew into the lead. The game was won on fouls. Ferguson of Hollywood was high point man with 10 digits, and Nicholson was right behind with 9. Booing on the part of the fans caused each team to be penalized.

FRANKLIN GAME

The Colonial Five loafed through to a 26 to 8 victory over the Franklin Panthers on the losers' court in the fourth game of the season. The score at the half was 16 to 1. Walt Thomas back at forward, and Jack Bergman in his favorite position of guard, scored seven points apiece to tie for high point honors. Nicholson, despite an injured wrist, scored 6 points. Six of the eight points for the Panthers were scored in the last quarter.

JEFFERSON GAME

With the breaks against them, Coach Ross Bowen's Colonials dropped a one point decision to the Jefferson Democrats on the winners' court by the score of 17 to 16. The first half proved fatal to the Colonials, as they could score but 5 points to 13 for Jefferson. Fairfax was greatly weakened by the loss of Thomas in the first quarter. The Colonials came back in the last half and slowly cut down their opponents' lead. However, Williams went out on fouls, and Captain Bergman, due to an injured knee, had to be removed after he had gamely tried to keep on playing. Nicholson got hot and sunk four straight set-ups and a field goal, while a free throw by Spicer tied the score 16 all. Jefferson finally sunk a free throw in the last minute of play. Nicholson was high man with 8 points.

ROOSEVELT GAME

Fairfax ended a successful basketball season by cinching fourth place in the league standing with a hard won, thrilling 26 to 23 victory over Roosevelt. Though they were behind 16 to 10 at the half, the Colonials were determined to win, despite the loss of Captain Bergman, who was out with an injured knee. Fairfax came back in the second half with an attack that swept the Roughriders off their feet. "Bid" Spicer saved the day with timely baskets that made him high point man with 10 digits. Nicholson played a brilliant game, scoring nine points. Thomas, after a poor first half, came back with a couple of baskets to make his point score 6.

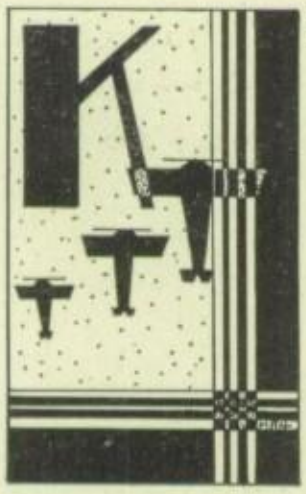
"B" BASKETBALL



KEITH LLOYD'S lightweight basketball squad ended the season in third place. The team proved to be one of the strongest in the city until the last two games, which were lost because of the team's slowness in getting started. Watson, Kelly and Captain Beaulac were the season's stars.

Led by Captain Beaulac and "Slim" Watson, the lightweights won the first league game from Poly, 23 to 15. The opening quarter was hard fought, and both teams scored nine points. The Colonial Babes tightened, and the half ended 16 to 12. With both teams fighting hard Poly garnered 3 points and Fairfax 2, to make the score 18 to 15. Beaulac was high point man with 10 points, while Kelly at guard played a good defensive game.

The second game saw Belmont fall by a score of 31 to 21. Again "Slim" led the attack, this time making 11 points. The Colonials were never headed throughout the contest, putting up a strong defense except in the third quarter.

Staging one of the most determined rallies of the season, Coach Lloyd's team turned an almost certain defeat into victory by defeating the Hollywood Babes 16 to 15. The Sheiks had everything their way during the first half, 10 to 1. After the half the Colonials came back with a rush and scored 3 points to every one Hollywood made. Watson made 5 points, and Williams, Beaulac, and Watanabe, 3 each. The last half was featured by the excellent guarding of Kelly and Watanabe.

"C" BASKETBALL

COACHED by George Beck, a graduate of the W'31 class, and managed by Leslie Schulkin, the Colonial Class C Basketball team had a fairly good season considering that they were handicapped by having to practice on an outdoor court.

The team, with Sherman Ornstein as captain, was composed of Goodrich and Stipe, forwards; Karger and Ornstein, guards; and Pipen, center.

Losing the first game of the season, the Fairfax Babes bowed to Poly with a score of 23 to 11. The defense was weak due to the raw material, as Karger is the only returning letterman.

Outclassed in both offensive and defensive plays, the Colonial Class C Basketball team was defeated at the hands of Hollywood by a score of 26 to 14.

The Fairfax Cees scored a 5 to 3 victory over the Belmont Midgets. Ornstein scored the entire five points for the Colonials.

Defeated on their own floor by a small margin, the Class C team lost to Franklin.

Although the season was not outstanding for the Cees, it was good considering that Student Coach Beck had extremely green material to work with.

The Colonial lightweights kept their slate clean by downing Franklin 13 to 10. Most of Franklin's points were made against the Colonial second string.

Fairfax dropped its next to Jefferson, 33 to 21. The teams were dead on their feet during the first half and the Democrats took a long lead. A spirited rally brought the Colonials within a few points, when their opponents pulled away with several lucky shots. Watson was high point man, while Williams and Kelly played excellent games.

The Fairfax-Roosevelt clash was not so one-sided, being 23 to 10 in favor of the Roughriders. Kohn's ineligibility made the reserve weak. Beaulac and Kelly starred.

Two of the steadiest and most consistent of the Fairfax lightweights throughout the season were Watanabe and Kelly.

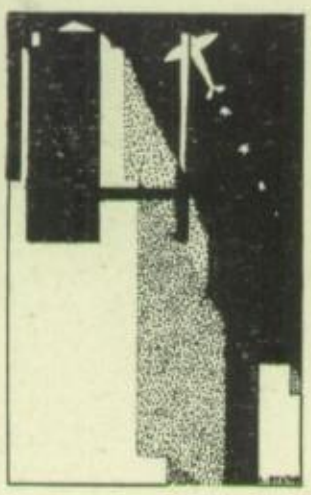
"A" TRACK



HOLDING three practice meets, the 1931 Fairfax "A" track team met Inglewood, Beverly Hills, and the U. S. C. Frosh. The best pre-season meet was with U. S. C. Frosh. The Frosh won 75¼ to 36¾, but every Fairfax man made excellent time.

Coach Lloyd's men made an auspicious debut into the new league by annihilating the Garfield Bulldogs on the latter's oval, 83 to 21. The Colonials scored clean sweeps in the 220, 440, 880, mile, and high jump. Captain McCarthy loafed through an easy 10 flat, and then strided the 220 in 22.4. Dobson took the 440, while Aleidis won the half. Cutler took the mile; Smith quit at 22 feet. Watson began a meteoric career, winning the high jump. Lewes of the Bulldogs, and Welsh, Colonials, tied in the pole vault, while Grant copped the shot put. The relay team won against an 8 second handicap in 3m. 3. 3s., a new school record.

Fairfax upheld Coach Lloyd's hopes in the "little city" meet with Poly and Manual. Though scoring but 35 points, the Colonials made an excellent showing. The prize upset came when Hopson nosed out McCarthy in 9.8. The latter won the 220, however. Mountford made third, yard behind Hopson. Poly took the quarter, while Saterfield, Manual, outsprinted Aleidis to win the 880 in 2m. 2.3s. Cutler opened his famous stride for a second behind Benavidez of Manual. Smith took the broad jump 21-6. The Poly relay record of 3m. 0.3s. was not allowed because the Colonial track lacked two feet of being 440 yards. Matz ran two beautiful hurdle races to take second in the highs and third in the lows. Watson cleared 5 feet 11 inches in the high jump for second place.

B and C Track: Back row: J. Schwartz, L. Baehr, J. Williams, F. Karger, R. Marquette, F. Gottsdanker, D. Niemetz, B. Pollack, R. Barnes, A. Ashcar, H. Pettler, F. Sears, L. Passin, J. Caplan. Second row: G. Welch, D. Haflich, G. Smiley, F. Rafferty, B. Nance, H. Watanabe, G. Anthony, R. L. Sumner, E. Hoffman, B. Dunlap, C. Lorch, C. Hanley, A. Pettler, H. Spitzel. Front row: Coach Bowen, B. Henderson, M. Mark, B. Plowden, B. MacLean, P. Adams, J. Cook, V. Musse, H. Hiller, K. Holly, M. Wallace, J. Dunwoody, F. Arbuthnot, M. Watanabe.

Captain McCarthy enjoyed a fruitful day against Fremont by setting two new school records, the 100 in 9.7, and the quarter in 49.6. The Colonials took the meet 81 to 23. Matz was the iron man of the day with three firsts, in both hurdles and the high jump. Aleidis set a school record by taking the 880 in 2m. 4.6s. Mountford won the 220 in 22.7 and placed second in the 100. Welsh cleared 10 feet 9 inches to win the vault; Smith won broad jump.

The Belmont meet, at first disputed, was declared for Fairfax, 54 1/2 to 49 1/2. Lewes took the mile and Rousseau placed third. McCarthy won the 100 in 9.9, and the 440 in 49 flat, a school record. Mountford placed second in the 100, but a sprain barred him from the 220. Smith gathered eleven points: first in the 220 and broad, and third in the 100. Matz won high hurdles, tied for first in the low, and Anderson took third in the first race of his career.

The Franklin-Fairfax meet was cancelled because of rain.

In the final standing the twenty-two points scored by four men and the relay team in the City meet gave Fairfax third place. Captain McCarthy won the 440 in 49.7 and took third in the 100. Aleidis ran a beautiful race in the 880 to take second. Matz took fourth in high hurdles and fifth in high jump. Anderson, running low hurdles for the third time only, took a surprise third. Two disappointments were the failures of Smith and Watson to place. The mile relay composed of Mountford, Anderson, Williams, Lowith, Baird, Otis, Smith, and McCarthy pushed the Poly team to a new world's record of 2m. 58s. Poly won with 33.7 points.

McCarthy, Aleidis, Anderson, Matz, Smith and the 4-man relay were entered in the Southern California meet. In the preliminaries. Captain McCarthy proved his worth by running the 440 in 48.8s., a Southern California record, and only one-fifth of a second behind the world inter-scholastic record. John was expected to set a new world's record in the Southern California finals or State meet.

The men entered in the Southern California finals won fourth place for Fairfax. The Colonials are tied for fourth in the State meet.

"B" AND "C" TRACK

ONE of the best "B" teams ever produced and a "C" squad above par completed what was probably the most successful track season in the school history. Coach Ross Bowen, who took over the reins as "B" and "C" track coach, was confronted with a group of sixty green athletes. Scheduling five practice meets, he rounded the squads into shape.

The weakness in the field events showed in the first meet, with Garfield, which was lost. The dashes and 660 were strong "C" events. In the tough Poly-Manual affair, the Bees showed up well, being nosed out for second by only two-thirds of a point.

Both squads registered their first victory in the Fremont meet, winning by large margins, in the sprints, 660, hurdles and broad jump.

By far the most exciting tilt was the close struggle with Belmont. Trailing by three points before the relay, the Colonials took this event in the school record time of 1:9.9 to win the meet. The high hurdle and 660 marks were also smashed. The Cees showed up well in the 660.

Eight Man Mile Relay Team

The city tryouts were next. The lightweights qualified Musso and Holly in the 220 yard dash, while Cook and Hoffman placed in the 660. In the 1320, Watanabe and Dunlap qualified. In the low hurdles Arbuthnot was nosed out for first in a race which shattered the league record. A last minute change in the undefeated "B" relay team had to be made when Hiller's bad ankle gave out. However, a team of Musso, Holly, Wallace, and McGowan performed well, taking second. Although the Cees qualified only four men in the track events, these included three firsts and a second. Henderson started with a 6 flat win. Mark ran the best race of his life, in 1:32.1. MacLean placed second in the century. The relay team of MacLean, Mark, Plowden and Henderson won smoothly in 48 seconds flat.

The strongest field event was the "B" broad jump. Dunwoody with 20 feet 8 inches took third. The other point winner on the field was Adams, who tied for fifth in the pole vault. The closest race came when the relay team of Musso, Dunwoody, Holly, and Hiller was nosed out for first by about three inches in the fast time of 1:9.4. In the 1320 Watanabe, with a terrific sprint, came from last to fourth. Cook garnered a third in the 660, while Arbuthnot placed fifth in high hurdles. Musso ran a good race to take a fifth in the 220. Coach Bowen did not allow Holly to run this race, that he might be eligible for the 220 relay.

The Cees' best showing was a second in the relay. The team of MacLean, Mark, Plowden, and Henderson just missed victory over Manual. Henderson nabbed second in the 50 in 5.9. Mark placed fourth in the 660, but was disqualified. He was entered in the Southern California tryouts as extra, however.

In the Southern California preliminaries, the Babes qualified the amazing total of nine men. Cook gave Fairfax her first Southern California record, a 1:26.2 win in the 660. The "B" relay team, composed of Musso, Dunwoody, Wallace, and Holly, broke the school record in 1:9.5. The "C" relay team: MacLean, Mark, Plowden and Henderson, placed third. Mark also qualified in the "C" 660.

Following is a table of the best marks during the 1931 season:

BEES

*100—10.3—Musso and Hiller.
220—23.3—Holly.
*660—1:26.2—Cook.
1320—3:32.5—Watanabe.
* 70 yd. H.H.—9.9—Arbuthnot.
120 yd. L.H.—14.2—McGowan.
*Relay—1:9.5—Musso, Dunwoody, Wallace, Holly.
*Bd. Jump—20 ft. 8 in.—Dunwoody.
*H. Jump—5 ft. 7 in.—Lorch.
Pole Vault—10 ft. 6 in.—Adams.

Bd. Jump—17 ft. v in.—McMillan.
Shot Put—33 ft. 7 in.—Gotsdanker.
H. Jump—4 ft. 8 in.—Plowden.

The high point scorers for the Bees were: Cook, 22; Musso, 21; and McGowan, 20. Hiller, Arbuthnot and Holly scored 17, 16 5-6, and 16 points, respectively.

Mark led the field for the Cees with $29\frac{1}{2}$ points, while Henderson and McMillan captured $20\frac{1}{2}$ and $16\frac{1}{2}$, respectively.

The Babes greatly appreciate the work of Glen Welch, manager, Joe Rollins and Joe Caplan, trainers, and Coach Bowen, to whose efforts their success was largely due.

"A" BASEBALL

FRANK SHAFFER has some promising material in his baseball squad this year. With four returning lettermen, Michel Gleis, Benny Petrone, Clyde Baker, and Art Reickle, and a new star pitcher, a championship is hoped for.

Kumalae, the Hawaiian ace pitcher, is the Colonial 1931 baseball team's star man. He is a southpaw pitcher, and his favorite is a fast ball which has a tantalizing effect upon most batters. He was All-Hawaiian pitcher in the islands, and is rated as one of the best men on the mound in high school baseball today. His fanning twenty-two men in a game at L. A. High is a good example of his performance.

Michel Gleis, the first returning letterman, plays shortstop. Brought in from left field, he has become a sensation at his new position.

Benny Petrone, Fairfax's catcher for the last three years, is rated as one of the best in his position.

For three years Clyde Baker, star third baseman, has played baseball on the Colonial squad. He is a three year letterman.

Art Reishle, expert center fielder, is one of the best in the city. He, also, is a three year letterman.

The remaining members of the team are all newcomers. Playing their respective positions they are: Curtis Counts, first base; Bill Spaulding, second base; Harold Harrison, left field and general utility man; Jimmy Baumeister, right field; and Hubert Grates, another utility man who is good in any position.

As we go to press the Colonial baseball squad has won nearly all of its practice games. Owing to the season's late start at Fairfax no record could be published of the major league schedule and its results.

9th and 10th Grade Baseball: Back row: B. Jaggee, F. Furman, B. Cameron, B. Reed, N. Rasmussen, P. Cairn, F. Sutterlee, B. McNeans. Second row: P. Steven, G. Prock, E. Bliss, A. Shepherd, B. NINTH AND TENTH GRADE BASEBALL

REETED by Coach Hugh Welsh and his two student assistants, Guy Priest and Dale De Pierro, sixty boys turned out at the opening of tenth grade baseball season this year. Tryouts were held under the watchful eyes of the coaches, and twenty of the most promising aspirants were kept. During the preliminary practice season, two teams were formed; out of these a main squad was chosen.

With the first team selected the Colonial Babes started the practice season, playing a total of ten practice games. Of these they won five, lost four, and tied one. They defeated the Hollywood tenth graders for three straight games, and Beverly Hills twice went down to defeat at the hands of the Fairfax Babes. The strong L. A. High School second team was Fairfax's Waterloo, for against them the Colonials lost four straight games. The last practice game was with Inglewood's second varsity. This, an exciting extra inning game, ended in a tie.

The players seen in action during the practice season were: Quan and McClure, catchers; Rasmussen and Furman, pitchers; Holley and Redd, first basemen; Orinstein, second baseman; Coen and Gleis, third basemen; Bliss, Siminaro, and Shepherd, shortstops; and Stipe, McMeans, Embury, Sutterlee, and Jaggee, outfielders. The coaching staff was hard hit with the news of the ineligibility of Embury and Siminaro, two of the star performers.

When the new city league was inaugurated, eight schools entered tenth grade teams in the competition. Fairfax's first game was held with Lincoln, the team favored to cop the tenth grade championship. The Colonials were defeated 11 to 9 after a thrilling extra inning game packed with excitement and enthusiasm. The lineup was: Bliss, shortstop; Gleis, third base; Grinstein, second base; McClure, catcher; and Rasmussen, pitcher.

TENNIS

WITH two returning lettermen and a wealth of promising new material, the 1931 Fairfax tennis team showed prospects at the opening of the season of developing into one of the strongest squads in the city.

Although engaging in only three pre-season practice matches, the team showed up well in winning two of the three. Beverly Hills and Redondo were beaten, while the L. A. High match was lost by a fairly close score.

This year's returning lettermen were Bill Roberts, captain, and Randall Spicer. The team in ranking order consisted of Bob Freese, Heinz Seigman, Bill Roberts, Walter Englund, Aubrey Harter, Rudolph Marquette, Walter Wortham, Bob Finell, Randall Spicer, and Sid Factor. Jack Warshauer and James Chisholm were alternates, and Phil Anderson was manager.

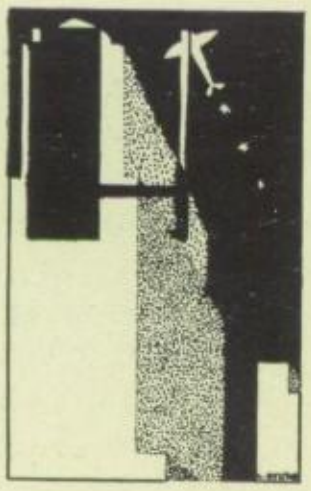
THE 1930 CROSS-COUNTRY SEASON



EADED by Captain Bill Whitted, Coach Keith Lloyd's leather-lungers have had a fairly good season. Dual meets were held with other City League schools between the halves of most of the football games. This gruelling sport has been slow in developing here at Fairfax. The team placed ninth in the City Meet, with Bill Whitted, Roger Rousso, Dick Stephenson, Bob Dunlap, and Norman Putnam well up in the money. These boys and Ross Miller received the new minor sports letter which are like the old Class C emblems. At the end of the season the team held a banquet and attended a show.

Sam Kerner managed the team, and will be manager of it again next year. Roger Rousseau was elected captain for the 1931 season. There will be several experienced men back next year, and Fairfax ought to have an even better cross-country season than it enjoyed this year.

MANAGERS

FFICIENCY and competency have characterized the student managers of the Fairfax High School athletic teams this year. Realizing the extent of their duties and fully co-operating with both teams and coaches, they have merited praise from students and faculty alike. The duties of the managers are to keep all apparatus and equipment in good shape, and to schedule pre-season games.

Coach Hugh Welsh was ably assisted during football season by Jerry Rollins, who performed all managerial duties until after the first game. Rollins was then succeeded by Ed Barsumian, who kept up the excellent work after the former had left school.

Coach Ross Bowen found Richard Lowers a great asset to the Colonial Class A Basketball team, because of his willingness to work and his never changing cheerfulness. Much of the team's success this season was due to Lowers's efforts.

Robert Schulkin ably managed the Class B Basketball squad this season and contributed much to their successful performance.

Bernard Peiser again showed his willingness to help when he and Eugene Bloodgood managed the Colonial Class A Baseball team. Coach Frank Shaffer had words of praise for both the boys.

Coach Hugh Welsh and his ninth and tenth grade baseball teams were greatly assisted by the efforts of Hugo Burgwald.

Sam Kerner managed Coach Keith Lloyd's Cross Country team, and again aided in managing the Class A track team. Track is extremely hard work for both the manager and the coach, and Mr. Lloyd expressed his gratitude for Kerner's willingness to work.

GIRLS' SPORTS

G. A. A. Board: Back row: Mrs. Allene Bowen, Carol Jane Thornton, Helen Benton, Ann Henderson. Front row: Trudys Lawrence, Jean Benson, Mary Brown, Mary Bennici, Dolores Hogan.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

TIMULATING interest in athletics, developing sportsmanship, and promoting friendship, the Girls' Athletic Association has grown greatly in size and strength. The faculty sponsor, Mrs. Allene Bowen, and the officers should be congratulated upon their fine efforts.

During the past year the G. A. A. has been divided into Junior and Senior groups. The Juniors, consisting of the eighth and ninth grades, receive a felt emblem upon earning 175 points. The Senior High division members are given a Fairfax letter for 500 points, and a star for each additional 200. Points are earned in many ways. Ten are given for perfect attendance during each sport season; 100 for making the first team, 50 points for making the second team, and 25 points for squad membership. Scholarship also is considered, as 25 points are awarded to those having no grade lower than B. Office work, towel checking, and board membership also count.

The G. A. A. Board consists of the G. A. A. officers, the Commissioner of Girls' Athletics, and the heads of the seasonal sports. This group discusses current problems and the entertainments of the organization.

The Girls' Letter Club, composed of all girls who have won letters, was organized a year ago. It contributed a basket of food to a needy family at Christmas time.

The seasonal sports are hockey, basketball, speedball and baseball. At the beginning of each season tentative teams are chosen. Later, class teams are organized and inter-class games held.

In January two basketball teams, a tennis team, and an archery group were sent to Franklin High School to a Playday. Due to rain, however, the basketball teams were the only active groups.

On May 7, several teams went to a Playday at Hollywood High School, while on May 21, Fairfax High School held its annual Playday. Among the girls present were those from Owensmouth, John Marshall, San Fernando and North Hollywood High Schools. Teams competed in baseball, speedball, tennis and archery.

At the end of the fall term an afternoon costume party, which was perhaps the G. A. A.'s most successful affair of its type, was held. The entertainment consisted of a skit, a peanut hunt, and dancing.

The Annual Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet occurred in April, and was very successful. At this time inter-class singing contests were held, and speeches were given by Mrs. Allene Bowen, Mary Brown, president of the G. A. A.; Frances Brady, president of the Girls' Letter Club; and others.

Altogether, the G. A. A. has become an indispensable part of the school life of Fairfax girl athletes.

CLUBS

CLUB activities have become an important feature of Fairfax life during the past year under the supervision of the late Miss Julia Baughman and of Miss Margaret Roalfe, faculty heads of clubs during the first and second semesters, and Sherman Cox and Betty Jane Roth, student commissioners.

The Spanish Club, "Los Hidalgos," under the sponsorship of Miss Nanette Aiken, presented interesting reports, musical selections, and songs at its after-school meetings. This group offered a colorful skit on the Girls' League Hi-Jinks program.

Members of the Latin Club, "Senatus Populusque Romanus," sponsored by Miss Florence Ringle, have been very active. Their chief social event was the traditional Roman Banquet, at which they came garbed in Roman dress and ate Roman food.

The French Club, "Le Cercle Francais," under the sponsorship of Miss Adelaide Hart, did charity work at Christmas time and purchased realia, among other things. The girls of the organization presented a clever "French Class of 1980" skit at the Hi-Jinks.

"Der Jugenbund," the German Club, has become one of the largest and most active language clubs at Fairfax, with Miss Henrietta Way as advisor. It worked for charity, held a Christmas party, and at the Girls' Hi-Jinks gave tableaux from "Grimm's Fairy Tales."

Much progress was made by the Esperanto Club, sponsored by Mrs. Belle Clewe, in the study of the international language, Esperanto. Textbooks have been obtained for the members.

Other clubs have been formed to promote interest in the different departments of work. This type of organization includes the History Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Martha Schulhof, which was formed to maintain interest in history of all times.

The Press Club, organized for journalism students, and sponsored by Mrs. Jessie Stromberger, held meetings once a month after school, at which Mrs. Lannie Haynes Martin, an editorial and feature writer on the Times staff; Don Roberts, sports editor of the Record; Miss Nina Yohalem, well-known writer of negro dialect stories; Miss L'Louise Hauton, editor of the Los Angeles Fashion Review, and Mrs. Robert Cowan, author of many cowboy stories, spoke. Mrs. K. M. Ray was co-sponsor.

The Home Economics Club, which was organized to study the proper methods of serving and the duties of the hostess, held several instructive and enjoyable meetings under the sponsorship of Miss June McCulloch.

The Lettermen's Club aims to uphold the athletic traditions of Fairfax and to create and maintain interest in athletics. Only winners of the big letter "F" are eligible for membership. The semi-annual Lettermen's Dance was held both terms, and the lettermen served M. P. duty at all the home games and meets.

The Euodia Club has as its purpose to build up Christian character and to increase knowledge of the Bible among the girls.

The Aviation Club, with Mr. Everett Hubelmeyer as advisor, was formed to promote interest in aviation among the boys of Fairfax. The club made frequent trips to airports.

The Hi-Y Club, composed of selected boys, has done much this year.

Social features of the year were the annual breakfast given for the men of the faculty at the Hollywood Y. M. C. A., the Track Banquet held in honor of the track teams, the Mother and Son Banquet, and the dinner dance for Hi-Y members and their friends at the Deauville Beach Club.

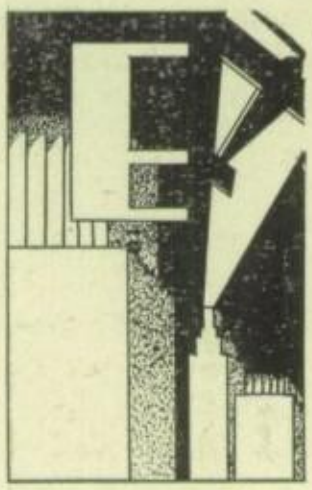
R. O. T. C.



STABLISHED at Fairfax High School in 1926, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps has gradually grown in prestige until it occupies one of the most enviable places in the life of the school. Much of the credit is due to Major D. R. Knape, instructor, who has done so much toward building up the unit.

Since being assigned here, he has left the actual running of the battalion in the hands of the cadets, who having positions of trust and honor, have developed into dependable and upright citizens.

This year, a new scheme was developed in connection with the post of cadet major. Formerly one student was chosen to be the battalion commander, thus leaving several other responsible seniors as company commanders. Every four weeks this semester a new cadet major is chosen from among the several A12 officers. After his tour of duty is finished, he is promoted to the general Board and a new one takes his place. Similarly, the officers all along the line move up, gaining experience in the various staff positions and the four companies.

There are not many other schools that offer as many and varied types of training for both the officers and enlisted men as does Fairfax. Here there is a Headquarters company, a Service Company, an "A" Company—this is the rifle company, and a Replacement Company.

R. O. T. C. Officers: Back row: 2nd Lt. Holly Dickinson, 1st Lt. Jack Peterson, 1st Lt. Roy Phillips, Major George Padgett, 1st Lt. Ralph Beck, 2nd Lt. Randolph Cornes, 2nd Lt. Duncan Fraser. Front row: Captain William Branesky, Captain Merwin Kandis, Major Gordon Parrish, Major Knape, Major Dale Snyder, Captain Fred Green, Captain Louis Heath.

The Headquarters Company has the duty of writing the orders, delivering them, and keeping track of the personnel in general. Service Company is responsible for the requisition, care, and use of all property. The company also has a hospital and pioneer section. These resemble the Medical and Engineering Corps of the regular army. "A" Company is organized as a full strength rifle platoon. Replacement Company is in reality a company designed for the express purpose of absorbing new troops and training them.

Instead of confining themselves to actual military theory, a group of the cadets under Major Knape and William H. Branesky, a cadet officer with a limited commercial pilot's license, have been meeting every Wednesday night to study the theory of aviation. They met in the armory the first semester and at Grand Central Air Terminal in Glendale part of the second semester to hear lectures by men prominent in aeronautics, speaking on phases of the industry with which they are connected. Some of the speakers were Dr. T. C. Young, Lt. Tomlinson, formerly of the Navy's three "Sea Hawks," and Mr. A. T. Raymond.

Being invited to Fort McArthur was a special honor paid the local unit. Several members of the battalion donated their cars for the use of those wishing to go. An example of the general interest displayed by the unit was that the trip was made on a Saturday when Notre Dame played U. S. C., and only a very few men were absent.

This year's annual inspection was unique in that no other schools displayed such high development and up-to-the-minute application of modern principles of military science. The anti-aircraft defense of ground troops and other well-carried-out practical work won especial commendation from Lieutenant-Colonel Pillow, the inspecting officer.

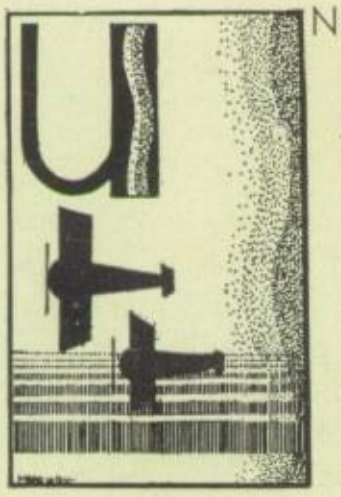
LOG OF THE AIRSHIP "FAIRFAX"

SEPTEMBER



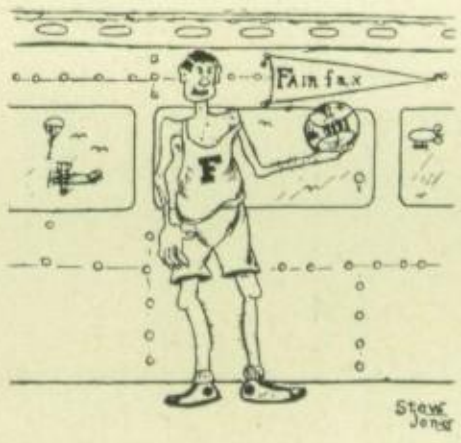
UNDER perfect weather conditions, the giant airship, Fairfax, takes off September 2, 1930, with 2,363 cadets (underclassmen), midshipmen (seniors) and members of the crew (Colonial Council). The chief pilot for the first half of the long trip, from September to June, is Fred Becker. The ship is in fine shape, with the addition of a new mechanic arts cabin, which is proving useful to many on board.

The first important social event of the month is the Girls' League Installation, which features an entirely new theme and setting. After several days of ideal weather, the midshipmen elect their officers. To keep both cadets and midshipmen from becoming bored with the routine of the trip, the science department presents the motion picture, "Grandma's Boy," starring Harold Lloyd.

OCTOBER

The ship is keeping close to her course. The victory of the Colonial eleven over Santa Monica, and its tie with Burbank, put all on board in excellent spirits—so excellent, in fact, that a huge rally is held in the ship's auditorium. Continued favorable weather reports are received by Bill Roberts, chief broadcaster. The Girls' League and the Hi-Y gave a dance in the girls' gym cabin on the starboard side. On the 13th Mrs. Brown casts aside all superstition and forms the Alphas, a girls' honor organization. The Girls' League old clothes drive starts as a thick London fog settles over the ship. Three motors on the port side are stopped so that everyone may hear Olga Steeb, well-known pianist, play several selections in the ship's auditorium. The motors are running perfectly as the G. A. A. holds a sport dance. The last important event of the month is the Senior B Midshipmen's color day. Many envious glances are detected as these midshipmen appear in natty yachting caps for the event. The celebration closes with the presentation of the very appropriate air picture, "Wings." We drop ballast to gain altitude in order to pass over a range of mountains.

NOVEMBER



Dramatically inclined cadets present Barrie's "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," for the entertainment of those on board. A treat is accorded the passengers as the Girls' League and the Hi-Y give another sport dance in the girls' gym cabin. News of another football defeat, received at the hands of the Belmont "Hilltoppers," has all but foundered the ship. The only relief that comes to buoy up the craft is a gentle south wind, bearing the news of the recent victories of our up and coming lightweight football squad. A rare treat is offered the entire company as the Senior A midshipmen present "Black Magis," their Color Day review, and appear for the first time in their stunning black sweaters. The motors again are sputtering, and more ballast has been released, for the ship is laboring under the stress of another football defeat, this time from Manual Arts. The motors are running a bit more smoothly now, although there is an intense sleet storm. The Alphas have gone ahead with their plans and are giving a program to the girls to introduce themselves. Again that mild south wind comes to the aid of the ship. The lightweights have defeated another team, Fremont. A great celebration in their honor is being held in the cabin tonight, for they have won that long coveted championship. Members of the crew, in preparing for Thanksgiving, have not failed to look after the poor. Numerous boxes and provisions donated by cadets and midshipmen are being dropped over the vicinity of Hammel Street.

DECEMBER

TOPPING to refuel, we take on board Charles Paddock, who gives an interesting talk. The old rivalry between the Senior A midshipmen and Senior B midshipmen breaks out in the form of a vicious sack-rush. The whole ship rocks, not only with tugging but with laughter—victory for the "A" midshipmen.

The annual Hi-Y dance proves very successful. The ship is now landing. The entire assemblage disembarks, and the craft is tied to its mooring-mast for two weeks, during the Christmas holidays.

JANUARY

Upon once more taking to the air, all on board retire to the Aud. cabin, where they witness an entertaining Promethean assembly. As the first lap of the trip nears completion, everyone is considering candidates for election to the crew. The Senior A midshipmen present "Adam and Eva," and despite a squall which we run into during the play, the entertainment proves a big drawing card. A rush of social events marks the close of this part of the trip: the G. A. A. Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet, the "Thirty" Luncheon, and the Promethean Banquet. The last big event of the cruise is the awarding of commissions to the Senior A midshipmen, who have now completed their course of training, at a very colorful and enthusiastic gathering in the auditorium cabin. The ship noses gently to the ground, the commissioned midshipmen disembark, and the craft is made ready for the continuance of the long voyage.

The giant ship "Fairfax" is once more taking off with nearly 3.000 persons aboard. George Bevis is at the helm during this lap of the trip. The air is clear except for a light fog bank on the horizon, which does not hinder the Girls' League Installation. The cadets receive an instructive science lecture in the auditorium cabin.

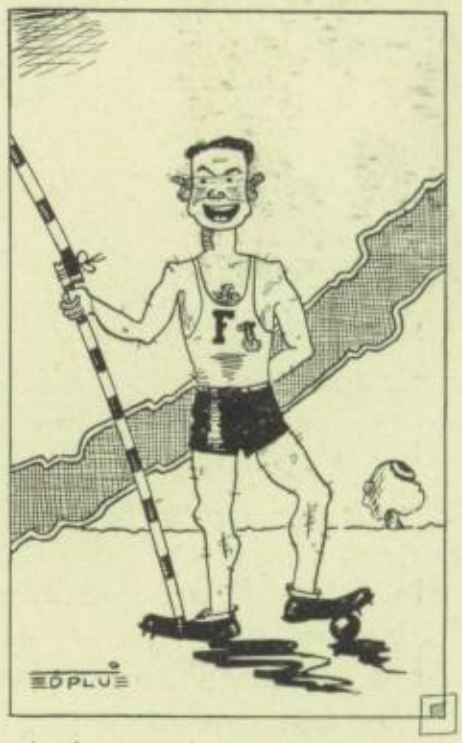
FEBRUARY

The ship lands for a time to permit athletic enthusiasts to witness a track meet with Inglewood, and a baseball game with Santa Monica. After several days of ideal flying weather the entire company witnesses the annual R. O. T. C. inspection. The world-famous "nature singer," Charles Kellogg, furnishes lively and interesting entertainment in the cabin. Weather reports indicate that a storm is directly in our path. We are flying at a high altitude to avoid it. While riding above the storm at an altitude of 5000 feet, the cadets and midshipmen are witnessing the painting of Head Instructor Van Cleve's portrait by Colonel Jacobs, well-known artist.

MARCH

THE ship's auditorium cabin is filled to overflowing for a track and baseball rally. After several days the ship lands at the Coliseum to allow a large party to see the L. A. City Relays, and to attend the Press Day activities at U. S. C. As the ship soars again, many on board enter the Times Oratorical Contest. Tryouts and school finals are held in rapid succession. The Senior B midshipmen entertain the entire company on their Color Day by presenting the motion picture "Sweetie." We are landing again to make minor repairs while the ship is tied up for the week of Easter vacation.

APRIL



In tip-top shape the "Fairfax" takes to the air again to continue the last lap of the journey. Rain and sleet impede the ship's progress. District finals of the Oratorical Contest take place on board and are won by our representative. The feminine members of the company are entertained at the Girls' League Hi-Jinks, held in the girls' gym cabin. A gentle west wind and ideal weather herald the S'31 Midshipmen's Color Day program, "Dreamland Under the Sea." The sporty green sweaters of the graduates are admired by everyone. After several days of fairly even flying the members of the G. A. A. hold their banquet.

MAY

An unusual treat is offered the entire company as expert Swiss Yodelers give a program in the auditorium cabin. Several important track meets are held this month in rapid succession. Landings are made for the City League preliminaries and finals and the Southern California meets. As we progress the air is smooth and those on board desiring good entertainment receive it at the play, "The Torch Bearers."

JUNE

The nomination assembly is held in the ship's auditorium cabin. After several days of sweltering weather the Senior A midshipmen present their play, "The Queen's Husband," which proves to be one of the finest productions ever presented aboard the ship.

Now we are within sight of our goal; our cruise is all but completed. To climax a trip which has been very instructive and successful, the "Colonial," the log of the year's activities, is distributed to those on board. The weather is calm now, as we are slowly descending to the earth once more. Our long voyage is completed, and our proud S'31 midshipmen receive their commissions in an impressive ceremony. They have graduated, and the "Fairfax" is resting peacefully in her hangar for the summer.
